Eden All Stars Baseball Team Has Impressive Season Record

The Eden All Stars, with a record of 24 wins, 11 losses, are well into their best season to date.

The All Stars, formerly the Shiloh Eagles, were organized four years ago by Sam Broadnax, a roving hauler in the Blanket Mill. Their season records indicate that the team is getting stronger each year. Manager Broadnax feels this year's team is the best yet.

"We have the strongest hitting club of its type in North Carolina and we keep getting new and better players every season," he said.

Manager Broadnax feels his team has lost all the games it should lose this season. "We've beaten all the teams left on our schedule," he said, "or we've beaten teams who have defeated them."

Among the most valuable players on the All Star team are Manuel Hairston, first baseman; Terry Simmons, center fielder; Leroy Galloway, assistant manager and third baseman; Ray Simpson, pitcher; Ed Roberts, pitcher and short-stop; and Scottie Carter, catcher.

First baseman Hairston is both a good "glove man" and a strong hitter. He is responsible for at least 10 home runs this season. Both Galloway and Simmons are also heavy hitters as well as good ball handlers. Ray Simpson, who is playing his first season with the team, has established an unusually good pitching record of 11 wins, one loss.

Because of the increasing number of games the All Stars are scheduling each season, Manager Broadnax is looking for a field that can be used as a stadium. He asks that anyone having a field approximately 8-10 acres in size and interested in leasing it to the All Stars, write Sam Broadnax, 1134 Irvin Avenue, Eden.
