Gardner Speaks At National Safety Council

James E. Gardner, training manager for Fieldcrest Mills, Inc., was one of the speakers at the 1971 National Safety Congress and Exposition in Chicago October 25-28. He spoke on the program of the Textile Section on Tuesday afternoon, October 26, at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

His topic was "Motivation of Employees with Particular Reference to Safety." He pointed out that safety behavior, like any other behavior, can be explained in terms of the motivation behind it.

"Although safety is not usually a need that in itself motivates employees, it can be used as a means by which other more important and compelling needs can be met," he said.

With the Fieldcrest Training Department since 1947, Mr. Gardner is the author of a book, "Safety Training for Supervisors," published by Addison-Wesley in 1969.

Also attending the safety congress was Kenneth R. Baggett, director of safety and workmen's compensation at Fieldcrest.

Mr. Baggett is chairman of the education and training committee of the Textile Section of the National Safety Council.
