Additional Information Is Given On Rug Sales To Employees

Pictures above show the new display room in the AMP Building on West Stadium Drive, Eden, where samples are available to aid employees when purchasing rugs or carpet from the Company. Employees may visit the display room, make their selections and the cash sales supervisor can tell them if the merchandise is available. The display room is open from 1 p.m. through 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Sales are on a cash basis and must be for the employee's personal use. "Personal use" means use by the employee himself, his parents, parents-in-law, or the employee's children, including stepchildren. Purchases may be limited at the discretion of the mill and a card file is kept showing a running record of the quantities bought by the employees. In order to buy rugs or carpet, present employees must obtain an authorization form No. FCO-13 signed by their immediate supervisor. Retired employees will need to have the form signed by the personnel manager at the location where they last worked. Remnants and off-quality broadloom will be sold on a first come, first served basis. No waiting list will be kept for this type of merchandise. However, in the case of off-quality Karastan oriental-design rugs, an employee may speak for such a rug and wait his turn. Meanwhile, the mill will maintain a list of the requests, as heretofore. Purchases of first quality merchandise will be at the mill list price. Orders for first quality may be placed for merchandise on hand or for those styles for which a definite finished date has been established. Gary Darnell, previously of the Karastan Production and Inventory Control Department, is the cash sales supervisor in charge of the new display room.

National Textiles Week Celebrated At Eden

tours of the Karastan Rug Mill. Dr. Hance said the special week was a way to impress on the people of the nation how important the textile industry really is. "It was also a good way to introduce students to the career opportunities open to them in the industry and a way to make people aware of how dependent they are on textiles for many of the things they use and enjoy." He noted the considerable effect that the textile industry has on the economy of the nation. He pointed to the 7,000 textile plants, in nearly every state, giving employment to 969,000 people, and the 25,000 apparel plants with 1,373,000 employees. Dr. Hance said textile employees earn $5 billion a year, and apparel people $6 billion. Textile sales reached $22.3 billion in 1971 with a total profit of $488 million. Capital spending amounted to $590 million. He pointed out that the textile industry is the largest employer in Rockingham county, employing 60 percent of the work force. Fieldcrest Mills, with 5,000 employees in Eden, is the city's largest employer, providing payrolls in Eden amounting to $32 million a year. Fieldcrest is also the largest taxpayer in Rockingham County with city and county taxes totaling nearly $1 million a year. Dr. Hance said these local taxes paid by Fieldcrest help provide schools, streets, water works and sewerage systems, law enforcement, fire protection and other advantages that make Eden a good place to live. "While this was the first National Textiles Week, we hope that it is the beginning of regular annual observances that will enable the public to be informed about the dynamic textile industry and its contribution to the lives of all the people," Dr. Hance said.
