

Paul Harvey Completes 45 Years Of Service

Paul Harvey, a spindle plumber-overhauler at the Draper Sheeting Mill, completed 45 years of continuous service with the Company on January 20.

Mr. Harvey has been presented the Fieldcrest 45-year service pin, a $45 gift certificate at the Fieldcrest Store and a letter of commendation from president William C. Battle.

Beginning employment on January 20, 1928, as a roving hauler, he has worked in the Spinning Department at the Draper Sheeting Mill the entire 45 years. He worked as a roving hauler, oiler and bander, a doffer, and ring spinning fixer before serving with the United States Army during World War II.

On returning, he worked briefly as a doffer before again becoming a ring spinning fixer. He worked as a ring spinning fixer until 1972 when he became a spindle plumber-overhauler, in which classification he continues at the present time.

Fieldcrest Employee Is Top Duckpin Bowler

A Fieldcrest employee is one of the top duckpin bowlers in North Carolina.

Leonard Jarrett of Eden, an employee at the Non-Woven Mill, has won at least 100 trophies for duckpin bowling and boasts a 124-plus average. He has retained this high average since 1960.

Mr. Jarrett, who has been bowling since 1956, has always bowled the duckpins.

In 1963 he achieved his first 500 set which set a record for the highest three-game set in the Southeast. The game was bowled in Greenboro and the bowling lanes in that city set aside a day in his honor. The highlight of the day was a game between the mayor of Eden and the Mayor of Greensboro.

Mr. Jarrett has bowled throughout North Carolina and the Southeast. In recent weeks he has participated in tournaments in Baltimore, Md., Norfolk, Va., and Harrisonburg, Va.

He hopes that duckpin bowling will make a comeback in this area. It has increased in popularity in the northern states and Mr. Jarrett says he feels the trend will eventually move south.

Lisa Ann Carrington

Lisa Ann Carrington, age four, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carrington, Jr. of Cascade, Va. Her father is a Wackenhut guard and her mother is a former employee of the Blanket Finishing Mill. Lisa's grandmother, Alma Kelly, is employed at the Bedspread Mill in the Spinning Department.

Jamie Swift

Jamie Swift, who celebrated his second birthday on January 9, is the son of Mrs. Merilee Swift and the late Leroy Swift. Mrs. Swift is employed in the Credit Department at the Karastan Service Center. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Young and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hall. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Coolie Murphy.
