

Visits In New Mexico

Kay Hodge, 15, (left), daughter of Mrs. June F. Hodge, who is employed in the Sheet Finishing Mill, recently flew to Albuquerque, New Mexico, to visit relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Farmer. She is shown with her cousin, Barry Farmer.

Appear On Television

Henry Lofton, far right, seated, an employee of the Automatic Blanket Plant, is a member of the Sensational True Lights, a group which appeared on WRAL-TV, Raleigh. The group appeared during the United Cerebral Palsy telethon in April. Mr. Lofton is a server in the Control Assembly Department.

Four Months Old

Shannon M. Bethea, four months old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bethea. Her father is employed in the Finishing Department at the Laurelcrest Carpet Mill and her mother, Barbara, is a former employee of the Tufting Department at the Laurelcrest Carpet Mill.

Two Years Old

Brandy Michelle Barker celebrated her second birthday on July 14. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Barker of Eden. Her mother, Doris, is employed in the Office at the Bedsread Finishing Mill.

17 Months Old

Twylla Meshelle Hairston, 17 months old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hairston, both of whom are employed at the Fieldale Towel Mill. Her father is employed in the Slashing Department and her mother, Betty, is employed in the Spinning Department.

Sheckells Children

Tina Louise Sheckells, 11 months old, and Richard Earl Sheckells, nine years old, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sheckells. Their mother, Judy, is an inspector-folder in the Cut and Sew Department at the Sheet Finishing Mill.

'Mr. Fieldale'

(Continued From Page Four)

was quite a guitar player in his younger days. He played regularly with bands, which were constantly in demand at dances, and they even made recordings--in a day when making a record was unusual.

Steagall represents what may be a vanishing breed of policeman in that he almost ignores the clock as far as working hours are concerned. His advice to young officers just starting out: Don't watch the clock. Also, keep your nose clean, don't dissipate, and keep your bills paid.

Irregular and always long hours call for sacrifices on the part of Steagall's family, but he credits his wife, the former Miss Lottie Virginia Sawyer, as "the most patient and understanding woman in the world."

The Steagalls have four daughters and three sons: Margaret Ann is employed at Fieldcrest; Bobby lives in Collinsville; Betty Jane is a teacher in Fairfax County; Donald works at the mill; Mrs. Patsy Hall lives in Stanleytown; Mrs. Marie Minter is married to a state policeman and lives in Danville; and Douglas works for Centel and lives in Collinsville. There are five grandchildren.

Steagall, who is beginning his 41st year in law enforcement, gets relief from Elwood Chitwood, the Fieldale night duty officer.

A devout Baptist, Steagall teaches a Sunday School class for boys aged 13 and 14. He also is a member of the Fieldale Rotary Club.

"Look here, waiter, is this peach or apple pie?"
 "What does it taste like?"
 "It tastes like glue."
 "Well, then it must be apple pie because our peach pie tastes like putty!"

Young Generation

Lera Nichole Thornton, three months old, and William Walter Thornton, three years old, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Thornton. Grandparents are Frances P. Wall, of the Cut and Sew Department at the Blanket

Finishing Mill, and Billy D. Wall, Bedsread Weave Room. They are the great-grandchildren of the late James C. Purdy, who was a retired employee of the old Rhoads Island Mill.

Everette Boys

William Bradley Everette, four years old, and James Brian Everette, 19 months old, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Everette. Their father is employed in the Plant Service Department at the Forestry Screen Print Plant. Their paternal grandmother, Betty Everette, is employed at Karastan Rug Mill.