EDITORIAL

There is a moderation in all you do and say that makes you agreeable, tolerant, and good-natured. You have an even disposition that enables you to get along with people. Your friendliness and cheerfulness are felt every where you go. Good tastes and simplicity are expressed in your appearance.

You have your ups and downs, but they are slight because you have a way of recovering your good-humor quickly. In all your friendships you are sincere and loyal.

You have the ability to work, and you are not afraid to exercise that ability.

You are sociable, sensible, friendly; practical, modest, cheerful, kind, good-natured, and conventional in your tastes.

Naturally enough, you are not without faults, but there are no really serious ones. If you really assert your personality and adapt yourself to meet the changing world, you need not worry.

Success depends not only upon good health, vitality, and energy, but upon a strong enough force to drive you on to your goal. Don't ever be content to drift with the tide and go just "any ole way." Swim against the current. Yes, it takes courage and initiative, but you've got it. You like to have the comforts and conveniences of this modern world, but you've got the stamina to meet situations, what-ever they may be. You have a splendid chance to be both happy and successful.

Is this character analysis YOU?

 Our fortunes must be wrought;
 Thus on its sounding anvil shaped
 Each burning deed and thought!"
