

KEPLEY AND HUBBARD ELECTED QUEEN, MAID-OF-HONOR FOR 1947 MAY DAY

H. S. Girls Honored In Poetry Contest

According to an announcement received by Miss Collette, High School English teacher, from Dennis Hartman, Secretary of the National Poetry Association, Los Angeles, California, poems written by Jane Turner and Jody Gilliam of Montreat have been accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of High School Poetry. "Sounds of the Night" by Jane Turner and "God's Will" by Jody Gilliam were the poems selected.

Band Presents Sacred Music Program

The Montreat College Band presented a Christmas Program of Sacred Music in chapel on December 14. The full band opened with "From Highest Heaven to Earth I Come." Helen Fomby read the scripture, Isaiah 9:2-7. The Brass Quartet played "O Sanctissima" and "O Holy Night," after which Grace Poyser read another scripture passage, Luke 2:8-14. Humphrey Armistead gave a trumpet solo, "Holy Night, Silent Night." The program closed with "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing."

The band members are Madge Brownlee, Virginia Tillson, Alice Poyser, Grace Poyser, Helen Fomby, Elizabeth Stillman, Zan Emery, Bette Hanna, Virginia Buckner, Maria Jane Perry, Norma Jean Hill, Harriette Seely, Frances Avena, Karen Johnson, Helen Brewer, and Humphrey Armistead.

The band is under the direction of Miss Campbell and has progressed rapidly this year.

RESOLUTIONS THEY HAVE MADE

by Vicki Samburg

New Year's and Resolutions; Resolutions and New Year's. How well they go together! Here's some resolutions your reporter finds that some Montreat girls have made:

Bachie resolves not to run in the hall anymore (until she gets excited again).

Azielee resolves not to make eyes at any more men—for after all, it just wouldn't be right now.

Jewell Jarrett resolves to go to breakfast at least once every six weeks.

Edie Mac resolves never to travel by bus again. How glad she must have been to see Montreat after the trip back after Christmas!

devastating effects of World War I and World War II.

This organization helps provide food, clothing, housing, books, study material, student rehabilitation service, and medical relief for students, regardless of class, race, religion, or country.

All girls contributed to this but the contributions have not been added yet. Will let you know the exact amount in the next issue of the paper.

Pat Cox resolves not to sleep through more than two classes a week.

Steve resolves not to miss chapel anymore. (She missed an opportunity to walk across the stage).

Virginia Wood resolves not to make any more F's in biology.

Mary J. Mackey resolves not to let anyone take her boy friend away from her.

Betty Attwood resolves to remember her Spanish assignment for at least one night.

Isabel Robertson resolves to dispose of her chewing gum before she goes into Miss McClure's class.

Nancy Harris resolves to stop talking so much while Dot Hodnett resolves to talk more.

Lovie resolves to call Dr. Reeves "you dear sweet person," so she'll get on the good side of her and make a good grade.

Margaret Haynie resolves to make a high speed in typing while Paulina Hagan resolves to improve her handwriting.

Lib Miller resolves not to go running around for S. P. S. stories on the deadline date.

Frankie Dysart resolves that she needs to take another class in history now, for she has only three now.

Azielee Kepley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Kepley of Hopewell, Virginia, will reign as May Queen for Montreat College in 1947, and Jane Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hubbard of Nathalie, Virginia, will be Maid-of-Honor. Azielee is a senior in college and Jane a senior in high school.

Representing the various college classes as attendants will be the following: senior class, Sue Burney; junior class, Jo Anne Heizer; sophomore class, Evelyn Wallace; freshman class, Sybil Mackorell.

SUPERLATIVES

On the same day on which the above were elected, the college chose the following girls as "Superlatives" for this year. Most Courteous, Azielee Kepley; Most Dependable, Barbara Stevenson; Best Sport, Jo Clyburne; Friendliest, Millie Bailey; Best All-Around, Dot Jean Sandefer.

Dr. King Speaks To Lydians

"The important part of your work as a Church secretary will not be the mechanical work of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, but the greatest Christian service comes in your opportunity to do personal work and witnessing in the homes, Sunday school, chapels, and other organizations of the Church and Community in which you serve." This was the essence of an inspiring talk given by Dr. King to the members of the Lydian Club on Monday night, January 13, at their regular meeting in the Home Economics Laboratory.

The short business meeting was presided over by Carey Lee Pratt, President, and in the absence of the secretary, the minutes and roll call were read by Betty Attwood, Vice-President. A poem was read by Willodeen Dukes.

Time oftsoon will tumble
All of us together like leaves in a gust,
Humbled indeed down into the dust.—J. Miller.
