

Soccer Tournament Nears Climax

As the soccer tournament gets underway, we find a wonderful spirit and some grand team work among the tribes. All the tribes are in there fighting, and the spectators apparently have "yelling fever." It seems to be a unanimous feeling that never before has there been such equality in tribes, so far as soccer is concerned.

The Cherokees and Choctaws opened the tournament with an exciting game which the Choctaws won by a 3-2 score. Then the Hiwassees and Mohawks battled a close game with the Mohawks coming out on top, 6-5. Long-week-end and bad weather broke up the tournament for a week or two but the tribes came back with more vigor and the next three games proved to be the most exciting ones yet! The Navajos and Choctaws tied, 0-0; the Cherokees and Hiwassees tied, 4-4; and the Navajos and Mohawks tied, 0-0.

Tuesday, November 16, the Choctaws and Hiwassees exhibited a great spirit of determination by playing more than half a game in the midst of an autumn down-pour. Spectators fled for shelter, but the two tribes stuck to it and the drenched Hiwassees came out victorious over the just-as-wet Choctaws, 6-4.

The Mohawks ran away with the next game, beating the Cherokees, 10-0. Both tribes showed some good playing and good team work.

Saturday's game between the Navojoes and Hiwassees was a fast one with the Navojoes a little in the lead until the finish, when their score was 8 and that of the Hiwassees, 6.

Blackfoot and Chickasaws Begin Tournament

The Blackfoot and Chickasaw game on Friday opened the High School soccer tournament with a flourish. It proved to be a closely contested battle, indicated by the final score of, 3-2, the Blackfoot tribe taking the first game of the tournament.

On the following day the Apaches tangled with the Shawnees. The Shawnees put up a stiff battle in spite of the absence of two of their top players. It was a tough game with the Apaches on top in the end by a 4-0 score.

The next game, on Tuesday, was played between the Sequoia and Blackfoot tribes. It was an exciting game also; the Sequoias made one goal in the first half and three in the second. The Blackfoots found themselves unable to score in this game, although they threatened the Sequoias a number of times.

All the tribes still have several more games to play before the tournament ends, and they need the cheers of every tribe member. Be sure your tribe gets the finest sideline support.

Board Initiation Creates Spectacle

"Oh, my aching back!" was the expression most of the newly-elected board members were gasping Saturday night after their all-day initiation. After all those hills they rolled down, all those slides they took, and all the other drills they went through, most of them came out alive! Probably the most painful part of the initiation was that the new members could not talk (what punishment for some!); and if they did, they talked with their tongue between their teeth.

It was quite a sight to see such oddly-dressed girls roaming around the campus and doing such strange things as bowing, kneeling, and reciting poetry for the old board members. But they all proved to be wonderful sports and we are proud to have the following girls on the Board: Margaret Boseman, Cheerleader; Mary Lily Burgess, Executive Assistant; Polly Hawkins, Soccer; Sue Morrison, Softball; Margarita Orozco, Volleyball; Jane Rice, Indoor Sports; Jean Tussey, Basketball; Alice Wardlow, Co-Hiker. Congratulations, girls!

The initiation was climaxed with a party. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by all the

IN THE CLUBS

COLLEGE CLUBS

The Kappa Pi Beta entertained its new members at a social meeting on October 25. Evan Wrenn had charge of the program during which the new members, Cordie Hylton, Vernie Pike, Margaret Boseman, and Ruth Lucas read the contributions which won for them a place in the literary society. Later the student members matched wits with faculty in literary games. Evan Wrenn, Betty Gibbs, and Jerry Ford had charge of the refreshments.

The Hiking Club held its first meeting October 30 to organize the club. Agnes Godert was elected president and Juanita Combs was elected secretary-treasurer. There are, at present, fifty-five members in the club. The first activity was the annual fall hike on November 15. The group hiked up Greybeard with Miss Barrett as faculty chaperon.

The C.C.U.N. has not yet fully organized or admitted new members. At their first meeting, Evan Wrenn was elected Secretary General and Paulina Hagan was elected Corresponding Secretary. Some of the members were in charge of a chapel program. Those taking part were: Lucille Vaught, Flossie Young, Catherine Byrum, Martha Atkinson, Margery Washburn, Paulina Hagan, and Evan Wrenn. They told of some of the work of the U. N.
