This was an inter-racial and inter-denominational conference, the first of its nature to be held in North Carolina. After returning, they had a chapel program and reported to the student body highlights of the experience. Both of them were impressed with the apparent success of the conference and expressed their hope that similar ones would be held each

On Saturday, February 25, at 7:30 p. m. the "mighty Sophomore Class" (as the posters proudly displayed) presented the fourth in a series of movies being shown in Anderson Auditorium. These movies date several years back, but they are top-rate and star outstanding Hollywood players. For good acting and interesting plot, they often outrank present day box office breakers. Only two more are scheduled for the year. The first of these is THE MAGIC BOW, starring Stewart Granger and Phyllis Calvert. This is a portrayal of the life of the great violinist Paganini, and will be shown Saturday, March 18. The Sophomore Class appreciates your patronage.

OUR EXCHANGES ...

Many students do not know about the Exchange Department of the DIALETTE. No, it isn't a place where you can "swap" roommates, or return damaged property; but we're sure that some of you would be interested in using it if you knew about it. Our Staff exchanges newspapers with other college publications throughout North Carolina and other Southeastern states. These papers are usually mailed to Frances Brown. who is very willing to share their contents with anyone interested. If you want to find out whether or not the boy friend at Catawba College in Salisbury is stepping out on you, just grab our semimonthly copy of their "The Pioneer" and read the gossip column! Or if you're more desirous of learning which basketball team is beating which, satisfying facts may be gleaned from the sports pages of "The Davidsonian." Besides these two papers, we get copies of the following:

"The Blue and Gray," Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn.

"The Erskine Mirror," Erskine College, Due West, S. C.

"The Wilson Echo," Warren Wilson Jr. College, Swannanoa, N.

"The Sweet Briar News," Sweet Briar College, Sweet Briar, Va.

"The Collegian," Greensboro College, Greensboro, N. C.

"The Hilltop," Mars Hill Jr. College, Mars Hill, N. C.

"The Lookout," Montreat High School, Montreat, N. C.

These are not all of the schools with whom we exchange; so if you're wondering about some others, be sure to check with Fran and find out.

Renowned Singer Gives Interesting Program For Montreat Students

Montreat had the rare privilege Wednesday, February 1, of hearing the distinguished Mr. Earl Spicer, renowned singer of the concert stage.

He was born on a farm in Acadia and as a boy sang in the Church choir. While he was in college, Mr. Spicer found time for studying voice, piano, and organ, as well as singing in the Glee Club and College Quartette, and playing the bass viol. Later he studied in New York and London.

Mr. Spicer has sung with leading orchestras here and in England and among his college tours have been several appearances at Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Minnesota, and many other colleges and universities. His informal manner, rare sense of humor, and magnetic personality have made him a favorite of all who hear him.

Mr. Spicer presented a concert of old English and American ballads. He introduced into the program an amusing quiz, in which the audience gave titles of Shakespearean plays as answers. Among the many songs he sang were the old English ballad, BARBARA ALLEN, a Gilbert and Sullivan song, and the confusing GOING TO MORROW TO-MORROW. After having been brought back for several encores, Mr. Spicer "wound up" the evening with the popular cowboy ballad, OLD PAINT.
