

--LETTERS TO THE EDITOR--

Dear Editor:

The air has been filled with "Welcome!" and "Glad to see you." We have spoken these words and we have tried to make them felt. We hope that in these days of getting acquainted with fellow students, teachers, and surroundings, that each new student may find a place for herself.

Each girl here has elected to come to college. She has not come just to study nor just to play. College is the development and strengthening of mental, spiritual, and physical resources. It is a challenge to put forth every effort in all phases of college life.

Perhaps the most character forming of ideals which exists in Montreat is the honor system. It is the responsibility of every student to see that this ideal is a working force on the campus, bringing about honesty in all phases of our relationships, truthfulness, and consideration for others.

We sincerely hope that every student may have the happiest and the most fruitful year that she has ever had.

Patricia Williams, President
Student Government Association

Dear Editor:

Just in case we have forgotten someone, the Student Christian Association would like to say "hello" again to every new girl. Also, we want to say that it is good to see the old girls back too.

In the midst of the busy schedule each girl will feel the need to draw apart and feed her spiritual body. Through the prayer groups, prayer meetings, morning watch, vespers, and Church services, she may do this.

One can easily see that we have a wonderful group of talented girls, and we'll be calling on them throughout the year to help in our various services and programs.

Student Christian Association

Dear Editor:

I wish you could get word to the girls at Montreat College that I believe this will be one of the best years we have ever had.

Have you met the new students, Freshmen and upper classmen who are transfers? They are so attractive, all of them, and I want them to understand how happy we are to have them with us. Can you think of any way of letting them know?

As for the Montreaters who have returned from last year, I am sure they are wonderful girls because I know them well.

With the student body that Montreat has, how can we expect anything but a splendid year?

Very cordially,
Elizabeth Wilson
Dean of Students

Dear Editor:

Since your paper has such a wide circulation among the students, I would like to use this space to send a message to all the new Montreaters from the Athletic Board.

There are going to be opportunities each day throughout the year for you to engage in some sort of recreation. Within a few days there will be soccer, hiking, horseshoes, shuffleboard, and tennis all going in full swing. Later there will be basketball, volleyball, softball, badminton, skating, and decktennis for you to enjoy.

If you don't know how to play these games, then come on and learn! Many of us who now play so enthusiastically were only learners when we came, and we'll be happy to help you learn because we know what fun is in store for you.

Get started right away and let's have some fun!!

Helen Duke, President
Athletic Association
