Preparations are now underway for the annual Christmas pageant that will be presented by the Student Christian Association in Gaither Chapel on December 14, at 8 p. m.

The pageantry will begin with Isaiah's prophecy of the coming Messiah, followed by a prayer for His coming. The enunciation to Mary by the angel Gabriel, her song of praise, and a watch-in-song kept by a traveller and a watchman precede the birth of the Saviour.

With the progression of the pageantry, angels, shepherds, and wise men gather around the lowly manger to recreate the scene in Bethlehem on the first Christmas night.

Christmas music for the program will be presented by the Montreat High School Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Francis Green.

The pageant will be directed by Miss Zoulean Anderson, advisor of the Student Christian Association.

WHAT'S YOUR THEME SONG?

By Jean Story

The Freshmen aren't all empty-headed when it comes to turning literary for the sake of this beloved newspaper, the Dialectte. Just to prove it, here's evidence that there is a very observant and original freshman who thinks Montreat is related to favorite songs and phrases that symbolize the outside world. She used this as a subject for elaboration and interprets her thoughts-at-random as follows:

"The Winning Team", The Blue Team.

"Skirts Ahoy!", Cheerleaders.

"Where's Charley?" Ann Broom.

"Call Me Mister", Mr. Green.

"The Devil Makes Three", Jolene and Martha.

"Don't Bother to Knock", "I'm Studying?"

"Something to Live For", Christmas Holidays.

"The Marrying Kind", Nancy Wallace, Julia Motley, D. J. Warren, Olivia Bishop.

"Room For One More", Montreat station wagon.

"The Greatest Show on Earth", Junior Class Talent Show.

"Night Without Sleep", Night before Dialectte comes out.

"White Corridors", Halls of Howerton.

"Sitting Pretty", Posing for Sun Dial pictures.

"Mr. Music", Mr. Frantz.

"The Thing", Miss Witch Harpo.

"Untamed", Florida girls in the snow!

"It Had to Be You", Jo Ella to ???

"With A Song in My Heart", Mary Ann.

"Stormy Weather", The day Annual pictures were made.

"Alone and So Lonely", "Johnny" without "Windy".

"Jumping Jacks", The Rhythm Class.

"Americans In Paris", Miss Buchanan and Miss Maxwell.

"The Red Head Fury", Grace Parrish.

"Three Little Words", Breakfast, lunch, and supper.

"Wish You Were Here", Betty Mebane to Jack.

"Sailor Boy", Freida's theme song.

"Tell Me Why", I don't make A's in shorthand.

"For He's a Jolly Good Fellow", Mr. Brewer.

"Far Away Places", Home.

"Ain't Misbehavin'", The unused theme song.

by Colleen Story, president of the college senior class. The speaker of the evening was Dr. C. H. Nabors, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Greenville, S. C. The banquet ended perfectly, too, with the sad refrains of the Alma Mater bringing tears to the eyes of the Montreat family, old and young alike.

Piano And Violin Concert Given

Mrs. Elizabeth Frantz, violinist, and Mr. Harold Frantz, pianist, and head of the Montreat College Music department, gave the second faculty recital of the year at Gaither Hall on November 29.

Mr. Frantz is organist of the All Souls Episcopal Church of Biltmore, and is directing the Civic Chorus in their Christmas program at David Millard Auditorium in Asheville on December 7 and 8.

The main selection of the evening was "Sonata for Violin and Piano", by Copeland, prominent living American composer, with Mr. Frantz at the piano and Mrs. Frantz at the violin.

Other selections included were: "Chaconne in G Minor" by Vitali, "Rondo" by Mozart-Kreisler, "Aubade Provencale" by Kreisler, "Variations on a Theme by Corelli" by Tartini-Kreisler, "Romance in F, Opus 40" by Beethoven, "The Lark Ascending" by Vaughn-Williams, "Trouvere Song, "E, dame jolie" by Mr. Frantz.

A reception was held at Assembly Inn following the concert in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frantz.
