DEAR SANTA CLAUS:

There's a very unique and talented class in Montreat College—the Seniors. And, since this is our last year, we'd like some very special gifts.

For our president, Ginny, please bring a bag of apples for her to take Professor Greenwood, so she can make a good grade in Journalism. For Mary Jane, a pocket-size "Smitty" to use when she gets stuck teaching. For Ann, a box of stationery to write letters to both Marthas. For Mabe, a boy friend, since she's never had one. For Tishie, a substitute to use in practice teaching. For D. J., a heap more visits from John B. For EK, something long, slim, and delicious (not named Ed) in her stocking—a peppermint stick. For June-bug, a new way to wear her hair. For Lola, about six inches in height, so she can meet the rest of the world. For Betty, an escalator from Fellowship to the Music building. For Alice, a way to go out for basketball, and sleep in the afternoon, too! For Heide, 10 extra hours in every day. And for Mary Ruth, teach her how to run the mimeograph, so she won't have to type all her publicity releases! For Mrs. Sawyer, a giggle, since she never laughs.

We've all been so good, "Squatty" Claws, so please bring these for us. We'll leave

-- Thanksgiving Day --

MONTREAT'S HOMECOMING

Thanksgiving is always an extra wonderful day in Montreat because the alumnae and former students return to see us. Here is the news about some of them.

MARTHA GETSINGER, Class of '53, is Church secretary at the West End Presbyterian Church in Hopewell, Virginia. "It's great to be back and see all the old girls again!"

EVELYN HENNESSEE, Class of '52, is Principal and teacher of the West End Church Grade School. "I didn't really want to come", she said. "I had to, just to chaperone Tom and Martha."

DOT LUNDY, Class of '51, teaches first grade at the West End School in Hopewell, Virginia. "There just aren't words . . . it's wonderful to be back in Montreat!" she exclaimed.

MAE HAGER, Class of '52, is Home Demonstrator in Kennonsville, North Carolina. "It's pretty good to be a Montreater again even if it's just for one day."

MARY ANN SMOAK is choir director, secretary, youth worker, and janitor in the Presbyterian Church in Greer, South Carolina. "It's really wonderful to be in Montreat again, seeing all the old familiar faces, and the new ones, also."

FRANKIE HALL, now Mrs. Bill Robbins, is a graduate of the Class of '48. She, her husband, and two children live in Knoxville, Tennessee.

"It's mighty good to be back," said PAT WILLIAMS, who is teaching eleventh and twelfth grade French and English in the public school of Pageland, South Carolina.

Another French and English instructor of the Class of '53 is COLLEEN STORY, who is working in Denton, North Carolina. "It's so good to see such a large student body, and Fellowship open again."

BECKY GLENN, "Professor" of English and history in Glade Valley, North Carolina, wrote her statement. "I really have a good feeling when I get within the good 'ole' Montreat Gate, because it's my favorite place; I hope to return soon to view all the sights and people . . ."

ALICE WARDLAW, Class of '51, is teaching history and physical education in her high school Alma Mater in Powder Springs, Georgia.

After a one year business course, JEAN STORY is now employed with the Billings Transfer Company in Lexington, North Carolina. "It's good to be back in my second home."

GRACE PARRISH, a member of last year's Freshman Class, is secretary to the Assistant Engineer of the State Highway

BIG TWO GAME

Good afternoon, fans, this is Halitosis Anne reporting the latest on the Big Two game of the year between the "M" Club and Montreat Varsity.

The weather is biting cold, the field is in good condition, and the players as per usual are unconscious.

A piercing scream from the coach and the twenty-two rough, ready, willing soccer queens charge out on the field. The captains gather their teams for the last minute instructions and then positions are quickly found. This is the moment thousands of fans have been waiting for . . . and at last the sharp, shrill whistle blows, the players lunge forward and with huge, bold voices they sing "Happy Birthday, Miss Smith."

Now the game begins with the Varsity holding back the "M" Club until the middle of the first half when Pogo Plecker valiantly stops a high flying ball with her shapely legs . . . this is the turning point in the game.

At half time the Blue and Gold cheerleaders dash out on the field giving their customary "all" for the cause by singing, dancing, and cheering. The "M" Club then gave a cheer for their H2O Boy who was dressed and ready for a raid from outer space.

Second half of the game seemed to tingle with excitement; everyone was tense, still waiting for someone to score. When out of the "M" Club squad Bubbles Bishop, Moose Gillespie and Chuckles Chaplin caught the hurling ball and "Moose" kicked, making the score 2 to 0, winning the game for the "M" Club.

Although the "M" Club did take the game, the Varsity players are to be commended for holding down the scoring by their unique team work and fine spirit.

Before I leave these old grounds and fly back to the great nowhere I would like to leave a few words of advice to the Varsity team, hoping that it will help to change next year's score from Varsity 2 — "M". First of all, stand and scream as loud as you possibly can, then run up and down the field it's good exercise, watch the cars passing by, and above all don't kick that ball—poor thing—it has feelings too. When you catch the ball throw it into the nearest basket . . . that's right, two points . . . opps . . . wrong game. Oh! well, it was great fun while it lasted. With these encouraging though's in mind, you will no doubt be labeled "Queens of Soccer".
