MONTREAT-ANDERSON COLLEGE, MONTREAT, NORTH CAROLINA

NOVEMBER, 1960

Thanksgiving . . . Homecoming

Jolly Is Associate Editor of Dialette

Little did Ann Jolly realize when she came to Montreat from Hughes Memorial School that she would be elected Associate Editor of the Dialette, for Ann has never before worked on a school publication. This could be because she couldn't find time, for Ann was very active in her high school days in such extracurricular activities as the Glee Club, Future Homemakers Club, Youth for Christ Council, and the Bible Quiz team. At Montreat, Ann is actively participating in almost every phase of student life.

The business end of the Dialette staff can look forward to a sharp increase in funds now, or so says Gipsy Bevins, newly elected Associate Business Manager. Barbara Hembree and Jean Hadley, respectively, have been elected as Assistant Circulation Manager and Advertising Manager.

The Dialette Staff is indeed fortunate to have these capable and talented persons added to the staff.

Gilliland Outstanding Personality

When one is in college and when one is seeking information about someone, where does one go for that information? Most obviously to that someone's roommate. That is exactly what this one did when seeking information concerning the Personality of the Month, and Becky Morse had quite a bit to say about Anne Gilliland.

"Having known Anne two or three years, I have seen her in many ways of life, and I have grown to love her more and more. Since we have been at Montreat, however, I have seen more clearly the Christian love

The day of turkey and pumpkin pie, of worship and thankfulness was observed at Montreat with the annual homecoming of the Alumni. The day of thankfulness appropriately began at 10 a.m. with a worship service directed by Dr. Grier Davis in the chapel of Gaither Hall.

Following the services students, alumni and faculty member greeted old friends and settled down for a morning of reminiscing and walking around the familiar grounds.

The traditional soccer game between the varsity and the Alumni began at 2:00 p.m. The game proved to be an exciting one, and the crowd was led in cheers by the Montreat cheerleaders. The afternoon featured a new activity for Montreat, a boys' Tag Football game.

The Thanksgiving Banquet was held in the festively decorated dining room of Assembly Inn. The evening address was delivered by Dr. George Webb.

Friday, the Montreat College Alumni Association featured a Symposium on "The Christian Teacher in the Public School System" in Room 12. The day was climaxed with a concert by the North Carolina String Quartet in Gaither Chapel.

An Art exhibit and tea were held in the lobby of Assembly Inn at 4:00 p.m., and the weekend activities closed with the movie "Red Shoes" in Howerton lobby.

that truly comes from within. When it seems as if she is completely overcome with things to do, she still seeks the Lord's will first in her life."

Anne is very well liked here in Montreat, and in some circles she is known as "Annie Bird". Her music has been used many times as a means of bringing the students and faculty together in worship. As are many of the girls here, she is trying to learn to knit, but she does get rather impatient at times.
