

A Student Speaks . . .

MY IDEA OF THE HONOR SYSTEM

The honor system which we have here at Montreat-Anderson College is very practical and idealistic. Its purpose is to help us live harmoniously together while we are here in college and to prepare us for the situations which will confront us after we leave here to go elsewhere. It has played a great part in molding the lives of many of the students who have come here and are now holding positions of honor and dignity.

The most important thing about the honor system is that it is based on the teachings of the Bible. It reveals to each student that he has a duty to be honest with God, himself, and his fellow man. When this idea goes to the fullest extent, a feeling of love, trust, and confidence is established among the students. It means a lot to anyone to know that people care for him and have trust and confidence in him as an individual.

The fulfilling of the requirements of the honor system is not always easy. Being honest with God and with one's self is often a hard thing to do. When anyone does this, he has to face reality and this sometimes means that he has to admit that he has failed or made a mistake, but he is able to see himself as he actually is. It is then that he can begin to see that he needs to make effort for improvement toward being a better person. It also takes a lot of courage to single out a person who has done wrong and tell him about his failure or mistake and that he should report himself to the proper officials. After a person does this, he should be willing to help the person who has done wrong in any way that he possibly can.

Our honor system concerns every phase of our lives and provides a way for us to create a more wholesome life. We have to be honest at all times and in every situation in order for the principles of the honor system to be upheld.

Our college seal has the words, Strength, Beauty, and Truth on it. These three words remind me of three big links of a chain which are joined together by many small ones. The small links are the people who make up the student body of our beloved school and who have the duty to work together to attain individually the characteristics of the words on the seal. It is the obligation of each of us to strive to be a strong link in this chain.

Eichman . . . Life or Death?

The world is waiting with mixed emotions for the trial and verdict concerning one Adolf Eichmann.

Adolf Eichmann was by rank Adolf Hitler's top man. Eichmann was assigned the inhuman duty of ridding Hungary of the Jewish race. He did this; yes, but what unpardonable methods. Eichmann is responsible for the death of over 6,000,000 Jews. He murdered not only Jewish men, but helpless women, children, and at times whole families together.

His camp was Auschwitz, where he planned his "destructions". Eichmann used gas chambers, crematorias, rifles, and starvation to fulfill his mission. A survivor of Auschwitz says, "Eichmann seemed proud of what he was doing".

Earlier this year Israel's secret police abducted Eichmann, who was living in Argentina. Eichmann is to stand trial at a later date, which has not yet been established. He has a lawyer, Robert Servatues, a German, who has said, "I will use every means at my disposal to clear him. Eichmann himself will have to save his soul".

It is the opinion of the undersigned that it is only just that Adolf Eichmann be executed for the intolerable crimes for which he is responsible.

C C U N At Duke

On to Duke! was our war-cry as we left for Durham. Here we would join with forty-one other colleges in the mock General Assembly of the United Nations. Here we would represent Argentina. This assembly was sponsored by the Collegiate Council for The United Nations.

Upon arriving we registered and were assigned the homes in which we would stay. Thursday, which began our three day stay, began with the plenary sessions at Page Auditorium. After lunch we went to the East Campus to attend the committee meetings. There were five important committees: the legal, political, social, Ad Hoc, and economic. Here the problems concerning each committee were handled. Resolutions and amendments were presented and voted upon. After the annual banquet we went to Page Auditorium to hear a lecture by Ambassador Fredeuek Boland, President of the General Assembly of the United Nations, which was followed by a reception given in his honor.
