

OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Staff Elects New Members

The SUN DIAL staff of Montreat-Anderson has selected several of its new staff members for next year. The new editor of the staff is Jane Howard. Georgianne Swann from Talahassee, Florida was elected assistant editor. Roberta Debnam is to hold the office of business manager, and Daphne Jolley is to be advertising manager. The retiring staff offers its sincere congratulations to the new staff members for '96'-62.

WRA Welcomes Officers of 1961-62

The athletes of the campus have a slate of very capable officers for the 1961-62 school year. Marion "Frosty" Moore was elected vice-president. Janille Fries has the large responsibility of being secretary-treasurer for this organization which supplies the campus buildings with soft drinks and other snacks. The sophomores chose as their blue representative Gloria Leach. The remainder of the W.R.A. board will be chosen from the incoming Freshman class.

Dialette Presents Its New Staff

The school newspaper has completed its slate of officers for the coming year. The position of business manager was presented to Mary Francis Henley, a day student from Black Mountain. Gypsy Bevins is to be advertising manager, and Ruth White is the future circulation manager. The associate editor of the staff is to be elected from the Freshman class of next year.

S.C.A. Presents Officers

To support its president, the S.C.A. has a fine roster of officers for next year. The vice-president, Becky Adkins, has shown her love for Christ in her association with the students in the short time that she has been at Montreat. A capable leader, she will give strength and force to next year's S.C.A.

Fran Black, who has served as chairman of Stewardship this year, will be the secretary next year. A native of New Jersey, Fran has been active in Christian Youth work for several years.

A local boy, Ronnie Morris of Black Mountain, will serve as the treasurer of the association. Having some business experience (with the A&P) Ronnie should keep the finances in line.

The three group leaders, Ann Poe, Lynn Gouner, and Bobby Dillard, complete the list of officers. Ann will head the Home Missions group, Lynn the Christian Service group, and Bobby the Stewardship group. With such fine officers the S.C.A. should really prosper next year in the service of our Lord.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

For some unknown reason I have become acutely aware of a dire need in Montreat. I observed the relationship between the students, and here is where I found the need. There is an acute emphasis placed upon the point of each student continually bettering himself as a Christian. The students take this task very seriously and concentrate on it, but in the wrong way. The students become enveloped in themselves and their small group of friends and do not venture out of this circle. There are many students who are lonely. These lonely students reach out from their despair and try to find a friend, but other students and I are too blind to see their need. We refuse to meet the challenge of venturing out of our little groups and becoming friends of those who need us. In our self-made stupidity we have become blind to the need of others. The happiness, joy, and meaning of life can be found by meeting the challenge. God made man for each other, a universal brotherhood. Montreat is small and we are shown and given many opportunities to become the friend of someone who needs us, but we fail; yet, we speak of world peace and call ourselves Christians. Arise, meet the challenge, and live.

Annual Spring Conference

The Appalachian Westminister Fellowship held its Annual Spring Conference at Montreat April 7, 8, 9. The delegates who represented Montreat-Anderson College were Ann Harbour, J. R. Payne, Becky Adkins, Jackie Hege, Judy Wildermuth, Fran Black, Brenda Overman and Nancy Abel. Some of the other colleges represented were the University of Chattanooga, Appalachian State Teachers College, King College, and Knoxville College. Our own Nancy Abel was chosen Ecumenical Relations Coordinator of the Synod of Appalachia.

The Conference was quite challenging. The inspirational speaker was the Rev. Felix B. Gear, D.D., Ph.D., Professor of Systematic Theology, Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Georgia. The theme of the week-end was based on his book, BASIC BELIEFS OF THE REFORMED FAITH, which is the study book for the 1961 Centennial year. After each main

A STUDENT SPEAKS

HAPPINESS

What is happiness? That is a simple question. You might say, "Why, happiness is having all the clothes, money, and admirers you desire". Or you might say, "Happiness is being famous and having the whole world at your feet". As sad as it may seem, these definitions are accepted as truth by many people. The real truth is that happiness is right in your heart whether you are rich, poor, beautiful, ugly, famous, or unknown. All you need to do is multiply it little by little. Give of yourself! That is the most important thing. Your wealth, fame, and beauty all combined are not worth one small fraction of you. You are precious and invaluable! You cannot be replaced. Yes, happiness is giving of yourself to your family, your friends, your community, and in this way you are giving to God. Happiness is being able to sleep at night with a clear mind and heart. Happiness is getting up in the morning, eager to begin the day. Happiness is being able to look yourself straight in the eye. Happiness is being able to look through last year's diary and laugh with no regret in your heart. Happiness comes through working hard. It comes gradually and painstakingly. When you have achieved that warm, tender, and peaceful glow in your heart, that is your success.
