

A Student Speaks

Frank Powell

As we face the end of the school year and the beginning of another one, we should realize that college is not a place for immature people. We are all over the 'hump' of changing from the high school "kid" to the college student. This year has taught us many things; among them are respect for others and respect for ourselves. If in the coming year, we remember this respect, Montreat-Anderson College will come to be an even more outstanding institution. I am not saying, however, that this is the only thing that needs the attention of the students. We need to remember all the aspects that create good harmony in the dormitory, on campus, and in the classroom. Co-operation on the part of every student will bring about all these things.

SUCCESS

One of man's governing desires is to be successful. Success, to some is measured by material wealth and power. To others, however, success is something far different.

Men have subjected their lives to Almighty God and every factor in their success was God-given.

What determined their success? What made theirs a great life? I believe that by acquiring, as nearly as possible, the qualities of the greatest man that ever lived, we become successful, perhaps not successful as the world measures success, but successful in the eyes of the Great Success. If we humbly become an instrument in God's hand, obeying His will for our lives, how can we but succeed?

Success is not money. Success is not how much of world's goods we possess. Success goes much deeper.

Success is based, not upon the wealth of material goods, but upon wealth of love and friendship, the wealth of family, the wealth of faith and daily communion with God.

Are we to be weak? Are we to be unconcerned? Are we to lose the fight that is before us? No! Success can be the victor! We must not allow failure. The answer is to trust in God. Only then can success be the victor.

APOLOGIES TO COOPER—(From Page 1) edged as she was in the National Honor Society in high school and on the Dean's List first semester at Montreat. Rebecca's warm friendliness and understanding of others makes her a true "Montreat girl" and a truly welcomed member of the Student Government Council.

Co-operation means abiding by the rules and applying them for your benefit and for the benefit of others while you are a student at Montreat-Anderson. It also means abiding by the rules which life makes. One of these is the ability to forgive although your feelings or your pride have been hurt. Alexander Pope once said, "To err is human, to forgive divine." The ability to understand, or at least make an honest effort to understand, the actions of people is another of life's rules. These things are not impossible to achieve; they can be obtained.

Let's make next year a time of evolution rather than revolution, evolving into a college more dedicated to its purpose, that purpose having its origin in Christ.

Personality of The Month

"Our little Toni B." these familiar words can be heard around campus almost every day.

Toni may be small but in her 4 feet 11 inches, is packed a powerful mind character, and statue. Toni was editor of her high school annual and participated in various church activities. She has an older sister and one younger brother. Toni prizes her parents and brother and sister. Many a day a group of girls can be seen sitting in room 111 listening to an inspiring letter from her mother or a comical letter from her dad.

You'd think Toni was a mechanical bee buzzin' around, but it's just Toni busy as ever with studies, or just plain being a well rounded individual by sun-bathing on Howerton roof. Toni rarely wastes a moment for if she isn't busy fulfilling her responsibilities then she's doing for others. Toni is an example of one who believes if a job is worth doing, it is worth doing well.

A dean's list student and a dependable worker are just a couple of Toni's merited characteristics.

Toni can be seen often in her second home, the library, where she has a work scholarship and is chairman of the Student Library Committee. Toni also was editor of The Dialectte this year, and after much fret, and worry the paper always managed to come out on time. She has really been thrilled these past couple of weeks be-

THOUGHTS

"Christ for the world we sing,
The world to Christ we bring—"

The thrilling message of Christ for the world was the theme of the ninth annual Mission Conference held in Rock Eagle Park in Georgia. This conference, the largest denominational youth mission conference in the world, was directed and sponsored by the students of Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Georgia. The week-end was one packed with the power of Christ and of man in Him. There were some thirty active missionaries at the park, all filled with His love and enthusiasm. For instance, there was Mr. Shephard an architect, who could hardly wait to return to his work among the strife-ridden Congolese. His message to the conference was a simple phrase—

"Are you a kid with a lot on the ball? Jesus Christ can use it all."

Think what that means to the life of a Christian! Then there was Bill Moseley, a man so in love with Christ that he had no time for himself and stayed up and out every night preaching to the salvation-starved Brazilian people! Of particular interest to college students was the discussion centered on the Christian "call" which was led by Dr. Cousar. Dr. Cousar was a few years ago a star on the Davidson football team, but now has devoted his life to teaching Christ to young men planning full-time Christian vocations.

With such outstanding themes and speakers as these, it is no wonder that the Montreat delegation returned full of Christian zeal and singing—"Christ for the world."
