

"AUNT ABBY ANSWERS AN AD"

A good laugh is like a tonic. It rejuvenates. If you doubt it, just come to Anderson Chapel on the night of May 15 when the Senior College class will present the new farce-comedy, "Aunt Abby answers an ad".

Maybe you'd like to know why this play is so funny. Well, here's a hint. Aunt Abby Ainsley, a confirmed old maid and man-hater, is coerced into answering an advertisement in the "Lonely Hearts" column of a magazine. The ad has been put in by a lonely old widower who wants a wife, and Aunt Abby feels that she will meet all the requirements. But Aunt Abby's niece and a girl friend discover Aunt Abby's letter and make plans of their own! These plans set the ball of fun rolling and it never stops until the final curtain.

So, start making your plans; you just can't miss "Aunt Abby answers an ad". Just ask any member of the play committee--they'll tell you it's "tops" in entertainment value.

"DON'T BE BASHFUL"

Saturday, April 17, the Senior High school class will present the play "Don't Be Bashful", a comedy in three acts. In this true to life play things really begin to happen when Nancy, a retiring student, discovers that in order to get what she wants she has to go after it. There is suspense to the very last of this merry mix-up.

The characters are: Nancy Adams, the cause of it all, Ida Mae Umphlett; Walter Adams, Ruth Ewart; Grace Adams, Joan Pritchard; Ken Hunt, Nell Hogthead; Sam Hunt, Joy Johnson; Judy Hunt, Buddy Ceburn; Larry Marshall, Gene Smith; Phyllis Burk, Shan Johnson; Frances Terry, Roberta Wilson; Miss Green, Mary Lyon; Officer Pluck, Elizabeth Aijian.

COLLEGE JUNIOR-SENIOR

Last Monday, April 12, there occurred one of the most outstanding annual events on the Montreat campus, the Junior-Senior Entertainment. This year the Junior-Senior went informal, and everybody agreed that it was a lot more fun than a formal affair. Promptly at the stroke of five, the Juniors escorted their "big sisters" to waiting trucks, which whisked them all away to an evening of fun and enjoyment. After a short but pleasant drive, the trucks came to a stop at the beautiful Lake Tomahawk, on the outskirts of Black Mountain, and the club-house overlooking the lake.

When everyone had arrived, the doors of the club-house were thrown open, and the "grand rush" began. The Juniors gathered round and sang a song in honor of the Seniors, written especially for the occasion by Evelyn Saxon and Margaret Baker. Supper was announced, and who doesn't love a picnic supper with fried chicken, deviled eggs, potato chips, and the million other goodies that make any picnic a treat! Well, you can guess what happened then. There was a wild scramble for the head of the line, and everybody prepared to enjoy the feast that was in store for them. After passing down the line and getting their plates heaped with good food, the girls selected choice spots along the walls of the club-house or outside in the yard and sat down to attack the business at hand. After they had finished, everybody gathered round the piano and sang favorites like "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and the service songs. Didn't they have fun, though!

Then the "little sisters" rounded up their "big sisters", and they all hiked in to the Black Mountain theater to see "Stranger in Town" with Frank Morgan. After the show, the girls were picked up by trucks which carried them back to Montreat where the favors, small model airplanes, were given out. Guests of honor, besides the Seniors, were Dr.
