

SPORTS

Sports at Montreat started during the first week of school with the freshmen winning the three basketball games that were played. The boys won two games, 39-37 and 69-61, while the girls won 39-16 over the sophomores.

Intramural football was next on the sports calendar. At the start of the season everyone picked Bobby Price's team to win the title. Yet, when the season ended, the Warhorses, coached by Eddie Teters, were perched on top of the final standings. The Warhorses proved this was not a fluke as they defeated the all-stars on Thanksgiving Day.

The sophomore girls gained some revenge for the way they were treated in basketball by emerging victorious in soccer. Their revenge was short-lived, for when girl's basketball started, it the same old story. Outstanding players for the frosh have been Frankie Porter and Maxine Bartlett while Kathy Walters has led the sophomores.

In boys' intramural basketball, the teams of Matt Maruccie and Joe Elliott are currently tied for first place. After exams the boys swing into full action.

The only major sport Montreat is basketball. Though they have a 2-7 won and lost record, the Cavaliers have shown desire and hustle in their play. The two wins that have been recorded were over Grove Stone and Asheville School for Boys. Losses have come at the hands of Asheville-Biltmore, Asheville School, Warren Wilson, St. Andrews, Wilmington, Western Carolina and Lees-McRae. Team members and their averages are as follows: Jim Jackson, 18.8; George Breece, 16.3; Carl Hiatt, 10.3; Mike Clark, 10.1; John Ponton, 2.3; Ernie Daniels 21.2; and Brett Ayers.

The Dialette is a monthly publication of students of Montreat-Anderson College.

Editor.....Janice Rogers

Assistant Editor.Kim Moore

Special Editors--

Social.....Anne McNeely

Sports.....Mike Clark

Music.....George Darden

Political..Jim Morrison

Art and Personalities

Mike Ryon

Humor.....Judie Knight

Typist and Layout--

Terrie Revis

Mary Lynne Wright

John Hall

Sponsor..Elizabeth Maxwell

THE LION'S ROAR

In 1755, Adam Smith said, "....if humor is not found in the well-bred it is because they have learned to repress their feelings and adapt their manner to a rigid mold of decorum; among the lower orders, by passions and murmur, nature appears in all its charming unsophisticated diversities."

A twentieth century humorist, Stephen Leacock claimed that a prerequisite for humor was that "it should never be at the expense of others."

It was after reading these two quotations that I began my quest for humor. I found the following:

No, nothing has been censored. The stencil worked perfectly. And I promise you, I did search. I would like to conclude from this that all the students at Montreat-Anderson College are well-bred. But Montreat students laugh.

What are you laughing at?