

ELECTION RESULTS

S.G.A. FRED JENKINS

S.C.A. ROBINETTE & YOUNTS run-off

HONOR COURT FRANK
T McIntosh

Dialette

Vol. 2, No. 12

Montreat, North Carolina

April 13, 1966

ART GALLERY TO OPEN APRIL 15

On April 15 to June 15 the Montreat Gallery of Fine Arts is holding its anniversary exhibition of art. All Presbyterian artists and sculptors residing in the Southern states are invited to enter paintings, sculptures, drawings, and graphics. All works submitted must be for sale. A commission of 20% will be retained by the Gallery. Prizes of engraved silver plaques will be given for first and second places in the various categories.

The Montreat Gallery of Fine Arts is a non-profit organization sponsored by the Mountain Retreat Association. This is the first showing of the Gallery and is part of the celebration for the Anniversary

ALL-STARS DEFEAT CAVALIERS

On Saturday night, April 2, the All-Stars defeated the Cavaliers 69-64, behind the hot shooting of Danny Lotz, who played on the North Carolina team that won the N.C.C.A. basketball championship in 1957, and made all the all-American teams in 1959, led all scores with 22 points.

Montreat had three players in double figures. Dan Rabon and Don Patrick had ten points each but scoring honors went to Arnold Nicholson with 12 points. The 6'2" high school senior, who is interested in See ALL-STARS, Page three year.

For further information see Dr. Ivan Stafford, 669-8245.

BATMAN SAVES MONTREAT

Batman, as the clever multi-millionaire Bruce Wayne, receives a note from the treacherous villain Riddler:

"Proceed to a place well-known to all."

"Aha," says Batman, "he must mean Montreat - Anderson College!" So Batman and Robin don their mountain-climbing boots, pull on their super-thermo nuclear-insulated underwear, and hop into their marvelous Batmobile. Driving down Montreat Road, Batman asks Robin, "Where IS the College?" Robin says, "There it is. Oops, too bad, you just missed it." Turning the vehicle around, Batman pulls up in front of College Hall. Batman cries, "What is this I see? A chain gang, washing windows and picking up trash? I wonder what horrid deeds See BATMAN, Page three