WHO'S NEW

Freshmen and transfer students are not the only new faces on campus this fall. There are a number of bright and eager faces that will be looking back at us from the opposite end of the classroom. We have instructors and administrators with experience ranging from work in mental institutions, juvenile evaluation centers, and with the natives of Peru. Could it be that the administration has done extra planning in meeting our needs?

First of all, we have Donald R. Mitchell, who is already a close friend to many of us and especially Mrs. Grace Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell will be teaching World Civilization. He has taught at schools in New Zealand, Rutgers University, and at Princeton Seminary.

Miss Maude Parker will be teaching in the English Department. Miss Parker is an honor graduate from Randolph - Macon Woman's College. She received her master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Donna Bell will teach psychology this year. Mrs. Bell taught in Asheville Orthopedic Hospital and Boonsboro High School in Lynchburg Va. She has done work in mental institutions and correctional institutions.

In the religion department we welcome Rev. Robert Kercher. Rev. Kercher served as pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Mooresville, North Carolina. He attended Stetson University, the Southern Baptist and Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminaries.

Mr. James Larry Roof will be part time in speech and drama. Mr. Roof studied architecture at Clemson University and holds a master's degree from Baylor University where he also taught speech and drama. Mr. Roof is well noted for his theatrical ability in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crumpler will be Resident House Counselors for New Hall. Mr. Crumpler will serve part-time in the Physical Education Department and will serve as

SGA PLANS YEAR

The Student Government Association met September 14-16 to discuss "Goals for the Year." Bo Lowry called the 1967 SGA to order. He then led an open discussion of what could be done to improve student-faculty relationships. Among the goals discussed were improving relationships with the administration, creating more respect for the Honor Code, and placing emphasis on student rules and regulations.

The SGA continued planning for the year by reviewing the student handbook and making plans for the Freshman Orientation Program. A Rat Committee was appointed headed by Bill Nanney. Plans were completed concerning the setting up of brother-sister dorms.

Many hours of hard work have been spent in making the Student Government of Montreat more effective and profitable. Our leaders have already shown their willingness to work for us in planning the best year ever at Montreat.

the Mark 111 Trio

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24
AT 8:00 P. M.

On Tuesday, October 24, we are privileged to have a young jazz group with us known as the Mark 111 Trio. The Mark 111 was the smash of the block booking conference composed of over 150 groups, held at the University of South Carolina.

The Mark 111 Trio, one of the most promising new musical groups in the country, present jazz in a atmosphere which is both entertaining and educational. Because of their classical training they are constantly in demand for recording dates, motion picture soundtracks, and concert appearances with such stars as: Dianah Shore, Connie Francis, Sandler Young, Jack and Sally Jenkins, David, Della Rosa and Brooks, and many more. Their extreme versatility makes for an exciting evening of entertainment.

-Ya' Haint Seen Nothin' Yet

Thursday, September 21, 1967 was the beginning of the fifty-second year of Montreat - Anderson College. The opening proclamation was enthusiastically announced by Miss Elizabeth Hoyt and followed by the invocation by Dean Howard Kester.

Dr. Ivan B. Stafford introduced the guests who welcomed the students to Montreat. Mrs. Sue Solomon spoke for the Town of Black Mountain and Earl Eller for the City of Asheville. Also recognized were representatives from the Board of Trustees and the Alumni Association.

Montreat - Anderson's most outstanding scholars were introduced and given an invitation to join the Mu Lamda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa. Those recognized were Flo Ramsey, Susan Rea, Jenny Ching, Martha Shirlen, Diana Ball, and Calvin Cannon.

The Convocation address by Dr. C. Grier Davis gave special emphasis to a "developing" Montreat - Anderson. The amount of gifts and grants to pay for our new women's residence hall, science building, library, and athletic field was announced. As Dr. Davis said, "What youth needs and desperately needs is something to live by, some deep convictions that life has meaning and purpose, that there is a Great Design behind the maelstrom of events, that life is worth living, the sweat, the toil, the tears ----- That is the purpose of a Christian Liberal Arts College.... the purpose of Montreat - Anderson College."

What followed Dr. Davis' speech was perhaps one of the most inspirational events of the year. The ringing of the bell on Gaither lawn as it echoed throughout the hidden valley of Montreat, asking that God be with us through a year of learning, developing and understanding.
