perdition Of tHymE

by Sidney Collins

a flower once full true,
now lies on a blue rock.
tEmpted by two bumblebees;
taken by too much rain.

tHe ground sighs to its woe,
and heaves to greet the pain--
of the seed bearing tree--
of the bent daisy-flower.

nOw all the leaves turn brown;
turn brown, turn brown, turn brown.
tUrn to the fate

an early
winter.

cOme time.

gReet the sunbeams
that kiss all wonder
and leave only a petal
of a flower once full true.

FILMS

by Harvey Davis

"Coogans Bluff", starring Clint Eastwood, is another tough guy role for this unshaven stereotype. Eastwood fans will applaud his performance even though it does not approach his work in such films as "A Fistful of Dollars" and "Hang 'Em High."

Coogan, an Arizona deputy sheriff goes to New York and promptly comes in conflict with gangs, police inaction, and other things not known in Arizona.

If you are a Clint Eastwood fan you will find the movie very entertaining. If you weren't, it's possible you will be very bored.

MUSIC

by T. C. Behrens

The harpsichord is an interesting instrument in itself, as it changes color, tone, rather than volume. When teamed with a violin ( a Stradivarius, no less!), the musical result is unique and charming, which pleases any man's ear.

The Lucktenberg Duo visited our campus on December 1 to give an extraordinary concert, using these two instruments with extraordinary musicality. They performed with speed and dexterity that would be difficult to duplicate.

Their program consisted of pieces which were composed in the latter part of the seventeenth century. There was one sonatina which was written especially for the Lucktenbergs by a professor at Florida State University.

A very interesting and well planned program with excellent musical ability produced a concert that may well prove to be the best of the Sunday at the Inn series this year.

Montreat-Anderson College won its Dec. 3 tilt with Warren Wilson 105-79, pushing the Cavaliers' record to 4-1. The Cavaliers opened the game with a tight pressing zone and continued to press the Owls the remainder of the game. At half-time Montreat held a 54-35 bulge.

Montreat continued its hot outside shooting in the second half. With 1:37 left Sam Milner scored the hundredth point. Final score was Montreat 105, Warren Wilson 79. Roosevelt Robinson led Montreat with 28 points. Frank Slaughter was tops for the losers with 27 points.

Coach Halstead was highly pleased with the student body as well as individual players. Coach Halstead commented that, "he appreciated the fine student support at the road games. It really helps the team."

Jim Norris and Charlie Dudley were able to play in this game whereas they were unable to play in previous games. They really played a fine all-around game. Phil Zimmerman was cited for "his fine work on the boards and his defensive play." Ben Young was termed "the rock of the team," and Richard Dillahunt and Bob Hunnicutt were called "the team's outstanding rebounders."

Montreat's Cavaliers absorbed their first defeat of the young season, 81-68, at Brevard, Tuesday, Nov. 26. The Cavaliers led by as much as nine points early in the contest. But, when the initial twenty minutes ended, Montreat held a slender two point lead.

Brevard opened the second half with a 2-3 zone defense. The Cavaliers failed to break the zone and coupled and suffered from ballhandling lapses. From this point, Brevard stretched their margin to a game high of 18.

The Cavaliers fought back and cut the Brevard lead to six points with 3 minutes left to play. Montreat's press forced Brevard into costly mistakes. However, a Brevard time out stopped the Cavaliers last-ditch effort.

Ben Young paced the losing Cavaliers with 22 points.
