1. Bill Hansen - It is good.
2. Robert Pittman - Tomatoes grow ripe in February.
3. Art Gingrich - It doesn't matter to me.
4. Billy Rex Breedlove - I wonder how Nixon got out of it.
5. Rich Brown - Eat, drink, and be merry.
6. Jim Renneker #54 - The greatest thing that has hit the United States since the war in Viet-Nam.
7. Tom McCall - I liked it.
8. Ken Drake - With #40, what else.
9. Allan Wharton - I loved it, #363.
10. Tommy Little - I liked it about as much as I do the cafeteria food.
11. Nancy Harton - I think that when all boys get out of high school, they should enter the draft. It helps better them. Now that everyone hates me for the former statement, thank you for letting me express my opinion.
12. Mike Sorenson - #34 It is bad for me.
13. Roger Wilson - It will work out just as good as the other system, maybe a little better.
14. Brett Blizzard - I think that it's Richard Nixon's way of saying Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

DEAR EDITOR

Dear Mr. Editor:

On the basis of being misquoted in your last Cavalier, I should like to offer the following correction. When asked by your reporter, "How do you like the cafeteria food?", I replied that it suits me fine and then went on to explain that I was brought up to eat all kinds of food and, therefore, am not hard to please. I can and do eat anything, I stated, anything, "but grass and leaves." But I was quoted as saying that since I eat grass and leaves the cafeteria food suits me fine. Subsequently, when going through the lunch line with pea soup on the menu one of the dear ladies announced: "Mr. Kercher, we have some grass soup today, would you care for any?" Mr. Editor, as you can see, it is important that you make this correction.

Thank you,

R. Paul Kercher

Ed. Note: We stand corrected.

15. Gerry McDade - No comment.
16. Jim Scholsser - Fine with me.
17. Sam McGunn - It was fair enough.
18. Al Seitner - I don't have to worry, I'm blind.
19. Dave Young - It's better than before for me.
20. Cleve Rivers - Doesn't matter, I am a revolutionist.
21. Allen Ross - Typical of what Washington does.
22. Phil W. - I couldn't care less. They ain't ever getting me.
23. Arthur Conrad - They're not going to get me.
24. Bill Harrill - I've always wanted to see Niagra Falls.
25. Jim Query - Sorta Haphazard.
26. Charlie O'Neil - I love it.
27. Neil Barden - No Comment.
28. H. Massey - It's fine as long as I'm in school.
29. Ronald Brigham - It's alright with me.
30. R. Foster - It's alright.
31. Louis Anderson - I believe that it's the most equitable, fairest system that we can have at this time.
32. F. Parks - I think it's great.
33. Tex - I'm scared.
34. Rod Brown - It's absurd for this technologically modern era.
35. Leon Rippy - I don't like it because I'm #38.
36. Ed Cheshire - It's true. I'm going to miss a lot of friends.

This sampling showed 14 people were in favor of the lottery system, 15 were against it, and 7 expressed no set opinion.

On the basis of last summer's highly successful Mediterranean Travel Seminar for Montreat-Anderson College students. Professors R. Paul Kercher and Janet Stone are now preparing the itinerary and program for a European tour to be scheduled the month of June, 1970. The countries under consideration for the tour are England, France, Italy, Switzerland, and Germany (including East and West Berlin.) The seminar is being planned in conjunction with the faculty's Curriculum Committee to earn three Semester hours of College credit in History.

The exact cost of the Seminar has not yet been determined but is estimated at $900-$950. This includes all transportation (jet travel trans-Atlantic) hotels, meals (except some lunches), tips, insurance, and Montreat-Anderson registration fee.

Those who are interested or wish more information should speak with either Miss Stone or Mr. Kercher.
