On May 13 the Director of Student Activities placed in the mail box of each faculty and administrative member of the Montreat-Anderson team a request for a "frank appraisal of this year's activities" and "suggestions for the coming year." On the next day, in the May 14 issue of the HOT LINE a request was made of the individual student that he put in writing "criticisms of this year's program" and "YOUR SUGGESTIONS AND IDEAS for the coming year" and to place them in the C. U. A. B. box in Gaither. As of this writing the grand total of six faculty and administrative personnel and no students have responded.

Several conclusions might be drawn from this lack of response. In the first place one might conclude that this is simply a continuation of the general apathy, it has been said, has pervaded the campus during the whole year. But this does not account for reported undertone of dis-satisfaction with this effort or the other, or what is viewed by some as no effort at all.

Perhaps a second conclusion might be that everyone is too busy to take five minutes to make such a written evaluation. Where the faculty and administrative people are concerned I can buy this as a somewhat legitimate reason. However, they would be some question as to whether or not the average student has gotten down to work with his much intensity as yet.

I wonder if the more valid reason might not be that, we all, faculty member and student alike, are still playing that infamous game of "letting George do it." For whatever reason, good or not so good, is it not possible that too many of us have been saying, "I have an idea, but surely someone else will come forth and present it to the people who need to know it? I don't have time, or no one will listen to me anyway."

This type of reaction to a felt need in any language means the same thing - the person who will sit back and let, or rather hope that someone else will do what needs to be done lacks that sense of responsibility for the total welfare that a democratic society must have if it is not to mire up in the mud of its own apathy.

Student activities are for the students. If the students do not exercise their responsibility for making their desires known, then who is going to interpret for them? Who can the students blame next year for an effort that they deem other than what they want?

Let's get with it MAC student. Get those ideas IN WRITING to your C. U. A. B. President before you leave the campus.

To The Students of 1970-71:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you, the students that voted for me. I have stated a number of times before that I will continue the work that Jerry McDade, as President of Honor Council, has started. This can only be done if each student obeys the honor pledge and honor code. If the students obey the rules and regulations of the College, my job as President will be much easier. This will show the townspeople of Montreat and Asheville that we are thinking people, that we are not out to just "raise hell", but that we care. I know that we can work together and I look forward to the opportunity of working with each of you next year.

From The Deans Desk

Returning students will find next year additional course offerings in mathematics and history. These have been added to enrich the curriculum and to allow students a greater freedom of choice in areas of special interest.

A non calculus course entitled Elementary Probability will be taught first semester. It will be followed in the spring by a course in Finite Mathematics. Remedial Math will no longer be offered. Students who are uncertain of their ability in mathematics will have the option of auditing a regular course until such time as they feel ready to take that course for credit.

In the Social Science division a first semester course entitled Problems in Modern European History will concentrate on specific historical events rather than on a chronological survey. For the second semester, students may elect to take Biographies in History, a study of selected lives. In addition to this extension of historical studies an opportunity will be given to qualified students to engage in independent research utilizing source materials available in the Historical Foundation. Montreat-Anderson College students will thus have an opportunity to write history as well as to study it.

The curriculum committee which proposed these additions has approved also certain course changes in the divisions of Fine Arts and Physical Education.

Other proposals at present being considered will affect courses in Music and the Business Education and will shortly be presented for faculty approval. Students are encouraged to make their own suggestions known to the committee through any of the three student representatives: Beverly Carter, Nancy Finley or Steve Garvin.

SUNDIAL

THE SUNDIAL, the MAC Yearbook, will not be off the presses in time for the students to pick them up before leaving the campus. Plans now are for them to be mailed to the students before the end of June. All students are urged to give their correct home address to Mrs. Robinson in the Student Activities Office before leaving school. If your address is correct in the Roster of Students you will not need to do this.

Best Wishes on your GRADUATION

The 1970 - 71 Christian Association

Montreat - Anderson College has regarded Christianity as central to its life since it was established. Its Presbyterian founders wanted to provide "a sound and thorough education" and they felt that education that merely trains the mind without creating a spiritual awareness toward Christ was only a partial education.

The Student Christian Association was created to help others in the way that Jesus Christ would want it to help. It accomplishes this by ardent devotion on the part of its members, fellowship among society, and action. Often, lectures and other collegiate activities are sponsored in connection with the Student Christian Association. Students and other people are given the opportunity to come to a more personal relationship with God, through Jesus Christ, and the work of the S. C. A.

Opportunity for service to others is achieved by the Student Christian Association Committees that are branches of the newly-formed Social Action Team; and these committees serve such places as the Dogwood Manor Home, The Juvenile Evaluation Center, The Children's Home, and the Veteran's Hospital. Also, another part has been added to the S. C. A. an evangelical team that is made of certain members of the association; and their duty is to go out to various meetings and congregations and witness for Christ in a personal testimony. This summer, several members of the Student Christian Association are planning to attend the Institute of Biblical Studies at Arrowhead Springs in California as part of the international Campus Crusade for Christ organization. There is always an opportunity for Christian service in the society; and we members of the Student Christian Association desire to do what the Lord would want us to do.

Jesus said, in St. John 6:37, "him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." This is the way the Student Christian Association will be each member of the student body is actually a member; and no one who seeks help or wants to be a part of the S. C. A. will be turned away.

Sam McGinn, President

Dear Students of 1970 and 71;

The forthcoming year is full of the potential, affording us a relatively fresh start next year. I shall be working first and foremost in your interest. If students, with enlivened spirits, hardwork and unity work with me we will be able to make Montreat a more enjoyable place to live.

Your Student Government Association can be stronger and more effective than ever before if you support it. I challenge those of you who return here next year to return with a positive attitude, determined to struggle toward our highest, common goals as one unified body.

I appreciate the importance of this position of President of the S. G. A. and feel challenged by the immense responsibilities.

Thank you for bestowing this trust and honor upon me.

C. U. A. B. PRESIDENT 1970 - 71

As next year's C. U. A. B. President my main goal is to try to establish more school spirit. My efforts as President would be in vain without the support of you, the student body. I feel that the students should have a greater voice in the selection of activities involved in Montreat. However, this will not be possible without the full cooperation of all the students. Thus, with all students working together towards a better C. U. A. B. program my main goal as President would be accomplished. One Suggestion which has reached me is for us to have a big band. Because of our limited budget the realization of this suggestion would be difficult. I propose that the student body start a fund raising drive at the beginning of the first semester to supplement funds already provided for activities of this kind. Students want more activities on campus and they deserve them but the activities can not be provided without the cooperation of the student body. It is easy to sit back and criticize but it is better to get down and work. Our goal next year is tough because nothing difficult is easy. LETS BE DOERS AND NOT TALKERS.

Donald Grooms, C. U. A. B.
President, 1970-71.

Dear Students of 1970 and 71;

The close of another year is just around the corner and as President of the College Union Activities Board I find it hard to believe my term is up. Both the fun and tribulation I have experienced this year is something I will long cherish and remember. In three weeks the pressure of Montreat will fade into the pressure of summer and in turn that will fade into the pressures of a new school. But this semester will stay with me for, I hope my entire life.

Enough for this year, what about next year? Next year your C. U. A. B. will be led by a young man known to all of you as Donald Grooms. He will take all of your gripes, complaints and complaints and make a College Union which you should be proud of. But to be proud of anything you, the students need to give him a hand. If I COME back next year and see the union in the shape I found it this year you will hear about it.

The Union needs you if you are going to need it. Don't wait until May of 1971 to get new ideas, bring them in September of 1970 or before. Montreat students, get off your rears and help yourselves. Tell people what you want, whether you get it or not. Someone on the College union will open up an ear, I promise you that.

To conclude, let me extend my thanks to a number of people and organizations who have been a help to me this semester. My special thanks to Dean John Davis and the Board of Governors of the C. U. B., the Administration and Faculty.

So long and have a nice summer!

Cordially Yours,
W. Carter Crump, Jr.
President, C. U. A. B.

WANT TO GO TO THE BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE?
