

they contacted three other students, in search of the same kind of information. Two, they said, had been noncommittal, one had said yes.

As the meeting ended, the agents gave the person a phone number to call if he wanted to reach them. The number was later found to be that of the Newark office of the FBI.

Since the encounter, Targum has contacted and confirmed FBI contacts with the non committal students. In the past, at least three additional students have been contacted. They include Glenn Tecker and Roger Kranz, both of whom were involved in the "Yippie offensive" of last spring.

According to Tecker, two persons who ar first refused to identify themselves visited his apartment while he was away. A friend of Tecker's wife, who answered the door, reported that one of the men had waited at the rear door while the other rang the bell. When she answered the man at the rear joined his partner. They asked where Tecker was and was and whether he would be expected later ihe day. She said she didn't know and asked again who they were and what they wanted. One of the men finally identified himself as Mr. Stewart. The other people contacted confirmed that Mr. Stewart wzs one of the agents who had dealt with them.

The next day the men returned at 9a.m. and again, Tecker was out. This time, according to Tecker's wife, one of the men identified himself as Mr. Stewart of the New Brunswick office of the FBI. She asked what they wanted from her husband, and Stewart replied that it was a complex matter that they would like to speak to him about and that they wanted to see him in person.

Again they set a time for their return. Tecker was waiting with Targum reporters and a photgrapher at the appointed time. Again, nobody showed. They reported, however, that a Ford Galaxie car had passed by the aprtment four to six times and had paused several times in front. Neither Tecker nor his wife has been contacted since.

The others contacted reported similar meetings with the agents, who always travelled together.

LEFCOURT INTERVIEW

MADISON (CPS)--Recently, University of Wisconsin DAILY CATHOLIC associate Editor Peter Greenberg interviewed Black Panther defense lawyer Gerald Lefcourt in his New York law offices. Lefcourt is one of five lawyers presently defending twenty-one Black Panthers in a trial stemming from a thirty count indictment of the Panthers, ranging from conspiracy to bomb to attempted murder. Lefcourt began his legal carrer as a Legal Aid Society lawyer, where he first became acquainted with the Panthers. Originally he was a member of a three-man defense team which included William Kuntsler and Lam Weinglass in the trial of the Chicago eight, but left the team in April 1969 when the "New York twenty-one" were indicted and arrested. He has worked on the case ever since. The following is the transcript of that interview. College Press Service: When did you first get involved with the Panthers?

Lefcourt: My first involvement with the Panthers was back in August, 1968. I remember
