

Computer Lab Updated For Student Convenience

By Eric R. Satter

Tom McMurty, Monty Fountain and Pete McDanel of Academic Computing are making sure that Montreat College is at warp speed on the economy's latest technological advances in computer software.

"This year we've added two new programs: Office Windows 95 and the newest upgraded version of Minitab," Fountain said.

For most students, the biggest changes came in the form of e-mail and the internet. Within a year, Montreat switched internet servers from Netscape Navigator to Microsoft Internet Explorer.

"Our goal at Academic Computing is for Montreat to remain updated with the latest computer technology, both now and in the future. We switched from Netscape to Microsoft Explorer due to Microsoft's advances—advances which Netscape has yet to obtain," expressed McMurty.

The service of e-mail, for both faculty and students, came to be somewhat of a problem last year in the way of security and confidentiality. This year, Montreat has switched e-mail services to Eudora, an e-mail system in which users obtain e-mail on their own personal disk.

"The problem we had last year with e-mail, was that too many people were logging into other accounts because the e-mail system was on the hard drives. We've switched e-mail systems this year to Eudora (which can only be opened on a program disk), which is great because students and faculty can obtain their e-mail and then read it later. No one can get a hold of your e-mail account because you have your own e-mail disk with you, with your own personal password," McDanel said.

Upgrading Montreat's computer lab with the latest computer software isn't the only facelift that students and faculty are now seeing—the lab has been totally remodeled to house offices for Academic Computing and an office for the lab's work-study students. This year, Academic Computing has hired five work-study students to work in the lab: Alex Cervantes, Eddie Karriker, John Langer, Jason Smith and Jason Strigle.

Cavaliers Manhandle Panthers

By Christian Malone

Last Friday, the Montreat men's soccer team pasted LaGrange 6-1 at home behind Eric Burton's hat trick. The next day, they defeated Union 3-2 in a great match, improving to 5-4 on the season.

The Cavaliers came out with a vengeance against LaGrange, taking control early and dictating the flow of the game. Sean Julien gave the Cavs a 1-0 lead five minutes into the game with his first goal of the season, a sliding kick over the head of Panther goalie Brett Trizzino.

In the 28th minute, Scott Kilgore broke away from two defenders and nailed a blast into the far lower right corner of the goal, his team-leading eighth of the season.

Then Eric Burton took over. In the 35th minute, the redshirt freshman made it 3-0 with an impressive side bicycle kick into the back of the net. Five minutes later, his jump-kick blast went untouched into the Panther net.

Women's Soccer Enthusiatic About Start

By Shazette Davis

The Women's Soccer team record is 3-4. On Friday the team whipped Lagrange with a final score of 3-0. Freshman Lisa Minus exclaimed, "It was a good win because we started off with only nine players and we held them." The girls were on a three win streak until their disappointing 3-1 loss to Union.

The team continues to have high expectations for this season.

Coach John Garvilla commented, "I expect them to have fun, do well academically and athletically. This is a young team. They haven't really established their identity. I'm waiting to see where the Lord will take us." He added, "They are very cohesive, get along well, and desire to learn. I expect a lot of goals to be scored."

With a sizable lead, coach John Garvilla emptied his bench and rested several of his starters for most of the duration.

In the second half, Jason Guengrich scored on a penalty kick to extend it to 5-1. Burton later finished off the scoring with his sixth goal of the season.

Goalies Ehren Killien and Brian Letendre stopped nearly everything that came their way, continuing to be a two-headed monster in goal.

On Saturday, the Cavaliers traveled to Union, where they played what Garvilla called, "The best game I've seen in my two years here," defeating a team that had destroyed them 11-0 last year. Kilgore, Burton, and Kerwin Francois scored big goals for the Cavaliers, and Killien and Letendre continued their awesome goalkeeping.

The Cavaliers are playing near their peak right now. Garvilla stated, "I am as proud as I can be with these teams, especially the guys. I can't say enough about the way they've played."
