

The Montreat College Student Voice
W H E T S T O N E

Volume II, Number X Montreat College, North Carolina 28757 February 14, 2001

Happy Valentine's Day

Who Is King of Hearts?

By Renee Pittman

Apparently the women of Montreat disagree with the decision of the judges for Monday night's King of Hearts Pageant. The Judges crowned Matt Cheezum as this year's King of Hearts, despite his repeated comments that he can't seem to find a woman. Yet there is still hope for Matt as he perseveres by "using plastic" at the Cavalier Grill for his dates. The festivities begun as judges Grace Aaron, Kim McMurtry, Tom McMurtry, and Colonel Sullivan entered dressed to kill. 2001 King, Billy May, entered in his classic gorilla suit. During the show, Jeff Walker informed us that there are no movie theaters in New Hampshire. Matt Cheezum demonstrated why you don't mess with another guy's girl...or vice versa, and Joe Diaz, why guys don't wear dresses. Tory Albertson gave an amazing display of vocal aerobatics and proved that you don't have to use a door to enter a room. The highlight of the evening was the awards which were as follows: Mr. Congeniality, Joe Diaz; Mr. Sweetheart, Tory Albertson; Chic Magnet, Jeff Walker; and King of Hearts, Matt Cheezum. Senior Donovan Campbell said this was the best King of Hearts he has attended. Special thanks go to Student Activities for such a great job on decorating and Beau Moffet for sound.

The court showing off their intellectual sides during the question and answer.

At a Glance...

Page One

- Who Is King of Hearts?
- Valentine's: A Scary Day?

Page Two

- Students Speak Up About Valentine's Day
- Who was Saint Valentine?

Page Three

- Engagements
- True Love

Page Four

- Valentine Notes

I Love You

Verse of the Week

Now may our God ... direct our way to you; and may the Lord cause you to increase and abound in love for one another, and for all men, just as we also do for you; so that He may establish your hearts unblamable in holiness before our God...(1 Thessalonians 3: 11-13) RSV

By Renee Pittman

It is that time of year again when men's thoughts turn with dread to that horrifying question: "What do I do for my special lady on Valentine's Day?" While my humble advice may not be the comprehensive key to the secret of what women expect, here are some helpful points of note for you terrified fellows.

I asked several women around campus what they hoped to get out of Valentine's Day. There were the usual responses of flowers and candy. Yet, when asked why that was so important to them, a deeper Valentine's wish was revealed! The primary reason women want those things is not for the sake of getting them specifically; rather, it is because it shows women that their special guy cares about them enough to do something thoughtful. When I asked the ladies if they would be just as happy receiving something that required thought and creativity instead of the traditional flowers or candy, the response was a unanimous yes! The point is this: do something that shows your lady that she is special to you. The more effort you put

Continued on page 2