Peaches And Cream Fill Biscuits

If traditional peaches and cream are a favorite with your family, Creamy Peach Biscuit Puffs are sure to be a hit. Convenient refrigerated flaky biscuits enclose a cream cheese filling, flavored with peaches and pumpkin pie spice. The quick, simple dessert is glazed and topped with a peach slice, and can be served warm or cool.

CREAMY PEACH BISCUIT PUFFS

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
- 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup canned peach slices, well drained and chopped (reserve syrup and 10 peach slices)
- 10-oz. can Hungry Jack refrigerated flaky biscuits
- 1 to 2 tablespoons peach syrup

Glaze

- 3/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 to 2 tablespoons peach syrup

Heat oven to 375°F. Grease a cookie sheet. In medium bowl, combine sugar and spice; reserve 1 tablespoon. Add cream cheese to remaining sugar mixture; blend well. Stir in chopped peaches.

Separate dough into 10 biscuits; press or roll each to a 5-inch circle. Spoon about 2 tablespoons peach mixture onto center of each biscuit. Pull edges of dough to top center; twist firmly and pinch to seal. Place on prepared cookie sheet. Brush top of each with peach syrup; sprinkle with reserved sugar mixture.

Bake at 375°F for 12 to 15 minutes or until tops are golden brown. Remove from cookie sheet while warm. Combine Glaze ingredients until smooth; drizzle over warm rolls. Garnish with peach slices. Serve warm or cool. Refrigerate leftovers. 10 pastries.

Strawberry Peanut Dips... An Elegantly Simple Dessert

For free recipes developed by Chef Lutz, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: PEANUT RECIPES; PEANUT ADVISORY BOARD/CMC; 1133 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036.

STRAWBERRY PEANUT DIPS

- 1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
- 2 ounces milk chocolate, melted
- 2 tablespoons prepared, whipped topping
- 14 large, fresh strawberries
- 3 ounces semi-sweet chocolate, melted

As any candy lover knows, there is nothing tastier than peanut butter and chocolate. Combine these two popular flavors with fresh, ripe strawberries and you have the dessert sensation created by Executive Pastry Chef Lutz Olkiewicz of The Drake Hotel, in Chicago.

Fresh Strawberry Peanut Dips are an elegant yet simple-to-make dessert prepared by filling sliced berries with a mixture of peanut butter, chocolate and whipped cream. Then dip the strawberries in semi-sweet chocolate for the final touch.

In a medium bowl, combine peanut butter, milk chocolate and whipped topping; mix well. Slice strawberries in half lengthwise. Spread peanut butter mixture on half of sliced strawberries. Top with remaining strawberry halves. Refrigerate until filling is set. Dip each filled strawberry into melted semi-sweet chocolate coating only half the berry. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Makes 14 filled strawberries.

Hospital Stays For Kids More "Bearable"

Cuddly koala bears have new homes on a specially designed line of hospital gowns and pajamas developed for young patients by American Hospitex Division of American Hospital Supply Corporation.

Aimed at bringing cheer and comfort to youngsters as they adjust to hospital surroundings, the Koala line sports colorful cartoons of playful koalas as doctors, nurses and young patients. The apparel is made of a soft, flannel-like fabric that is flame resistant without a chemical finish.

"A hospital stay can be a frightening experience to a child," says Brent Starck, marketing vice president for American Hospitex. "Our gowns and puppets create a caring, friendly atmosphere that reduces anxiety and helps a child feel more comfortable. Parents and staff see this and feel better, too."

"Everyone who sees them smiles," agrees John Lukashow, laundry manager at Mercy Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago, and distributor of health-care products.

American Hospitex, headquartered in Decatur, Ga., is a division of American Hospital Supply Corporation, a worldwide manufacturer and distributor of health-care products.
