Peanut brittle, a traditional candy favorite, is ideal for gift-giving and to keep on hand for the holidays. This new variation calls for super chunk peanut butter in place of peanuts.

PEANUT BUTTER BRITTLE

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup Skippy super chunk peanut butter
1 teaspoon baking soda

Peanut Butter Flavors Brittle

Grease 2 large baking sheets. Place on wire racks. In heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan stir together sugar, corn syrup and water. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat. Cook without stirring until temperature reaches 300°F on candy thermometer, or until syrup when dropped into cold water forms threads which are hard and brittle. Stir in peanut butter until well blended. Remove from heat. Quickly but gently stir in baking soda. Immediately pour onto baking sheets; do not spread. Cool 3 to 5 minutes or just until cool enough to handle; take the candy by the edges, and lifting it slightly, pull as thin as possible. Cool. Break into irregular pieces. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds.

My Answer

By Billy Graham

Dear Dr. Graham: I am in a difficult marriage and thinking of divorce. Do you think this is wrong today, especially since divorce is so widely accepted? — Mrs. H. G. D.

DEAR MRS. H.G.D.: I hope you will do everything you possibly can not only to keep your marriage intact, but to make it the source of happiness and peace that God intends it to be. I know it is common today for people to jump out of a marriage when things get rough or the initial romantic feelings begin to fade. But that is not right, as the Bible makes clear, and furthermore I am convinced that many, many marriages could be restored to happiness if they would make the effort with God's help.

What should you do? First of all, you need to commit every aspect of your life to God — not only your marriage but everything else as well. Ask Christ to come into your heart and cleanse you from sin, and then ask him to control your life and have his perfect will in you. Especially ask him to help you so you can be free from the selfishness that makes it difficult for you to love as you should. Pray also for your husband, that he will come to Christ and that together you can grow closer to God — and to each other.

Then ask God to help you take practical steps to be the best wife you can possibly be. Look carefully at what the Bible tells us about love: "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres" (1 Corinthians 13:4-7).
