A very enjoyable four days was had by Ruth Dawson, Mary Lee Dobbins and Ever Whitaker when they joined a tour group from Cliffside Baptist and Bethel Baptist of Ellenboro. Mrs. Manley Forbes was Tour Guide and she was assisted by Mrs. Robert Hamrick. They were overnight guests in Hagerstown, Maryland, Soudesburg and Chambersburg, Pa. and visited the Gettysburg National Military Park, the Eisenhower National Historic Site, Cyclorama Center, and Hershey, Pa. to see Hershey World and to the finished product when they received a sample. They toured the Pennsylvania Dutch Vacationland, Amish Homestead, and Village which they enjoyed the variety of living in this area. Leaving Pa. and on their return they visited the Natural Bridge in Virginia and along the trail which contains trees 1,000 years old, Salt Petre Mine, Pulpit Rock, Lost River, and Lace Waterfalls.

The Jim Walkers were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Cagle in Hendersonville on Friday and visited Cherokee where Thomas and Tim were delighted with the Indians. They returned home on Saturday.

Baptist Men met at the church on Saturday evening with Charles Hamrick serving as host for the delicious meal. A good program was enjoyed that had been arranged by P.G. Jolley. The men had a time of fun and fellowship during the meal.

Garland and Mary Jo Jolley attended the 38th Class Reunion of the Class of '38 of Mooresboro High School at the Western Steer Restaurant. After an enjoyable meal the group went to the home of Mrs. Ruby Biddix for a period of being together, getting re-acquainted and a time of fun.

A visit on Sunday by Mrs. Sarah Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher Spangler of Lawndale, Mr. and Mrs. Buren Hamrick was made to see Mr. Grover Hawkins in the Haven-N-Hills Rest Home at Bostic.

The lovely flowers in the sanctuary on Sunday were presented by Mrs. Frank Hamrick in honor of her husband, Frank's Birthday.

The Youth held a Fellowship at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Mull on Sunday Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranny Blanton attended the wedding Sunday afternoon of Randy Shelton to Carla Satterfield in the Alexis Baptist Church at Alexis.

Overnight guest of Mrs. Cleo Wallace on Sunday was her sister Mrs. John March of Travelers Rest, South Carolina.

Alton Jolley is a patient in the Rutherford Hospital at this writing.

We extend community sympathy to Mrs. Ida Simmons in the death of her uncle, Mrs. Yates McGinnis of Boiling Springs during the week-end.

Grandparents Are VIPs To A Child

Ask a child what a grandparent is and you will get some interesting answers. Grandparents can play five major roles in a child's life, says Dr. Leo Hawkins, extension human development specialist, North Carolina State University.

They are the family historian. "Children love to hear stories of the 'the olden days,' and grandparents can make their own stories part of the child's life story," Dr. Hawkins says. These stories are more than just enjoyable. Through them, children learn that their parents were once children, too.

Grandparents can serve as a child's mentor, "someone who takes them under his wing, sharing the wisdom accumulated through a life of experience," Dr. Hawkins says.

They are also role models. "They are living examples of what the young child can expect to become. If grandparents are absent, the child will pick up an image of what it means to become old from other sources, such as television. Powerful grandparents also embody the attitudes, morals, talents and acceptable behavior for the family," Dr. Hawkins notes.

The most basic role grandparents play is that of a nurturer, although institutions provide more and more of this care. "Today, grandparents are more likely to be called in only during a major family crisis. As grandparents become more detached, they are less likely to be called upon to help and less willing to respond," Dr. Hawkins says.

A final role, particularly important to youngsters, is that of a 'wizard.' "Parents and teachers are following certain roles which do not restrict grandchildren," the extension specialist says.

"Those who do become involved, find the role brings money rewards," Dr. Hawkins says.

On Saturday, Oct. 15, the Harvest Day Sale will be at the fellowship building. Many items of handcraft, quilts, woodworks, flowers and baked goods will be sold. The public is invited to attend.

On Sunday night the W.M.U. organizations gave a program along with installation of all new officers. 2 Queen's with Seper's in Action's were crowned. They were Kellis Long attended by
