

IT HAPPENED HERE!!!

CATASTROPHE!!!

There are all types of bravery (so we are told), but the following tops all we have heard:

The other night Little Mary Marie Wherry was quietly taking two huge pills that had been prescribed for her.

Jean Merchant came up in an "unusual" mood (Brave Mood, as it were), and seeing Mary Marie taking pills asked her for one.

"I like to take pills," Jean insisted, "especially big ones. Give me one, and I'll swallow it whole," she boasted.

Mary Marie was a little doubtful. The pills were too large to swallow; they had to be chewed.

But if Jean wanted one--that would be one less for her to take. So, out of the goodness of her heart, she handed Jean a large, flat object--definitely yellow!

Jean threw it down her throat, and drank some water, but with no results. The pill refused to budge! So poor Jean was in the uncomfortable position of literally gasping for breath (and dear life)!

Mary Marie stood by in awe. Some Good Samaritan came by and, seeing Jean's plight, ushered her to the infirmary. After hours of struggle, the object of much discomfort decided to travel down "the red line."

Jean has proved that she has a certain type of bravery. Her motive for "such" is not known. When interviewed, she answered, "I used to like to take pills."

We wonder!

** ** *

SYNONYMS

Carolyn-----"Stuff"
Margaret-----Ray
Ann-----Sara
Hessie-----Joy
Floise-----Marguerite

SPORT -TENNIS-

Time marches on! It's almost time for the basket-ball tournaments to begin. Of course, that will be an exciting time for us all, but we are simply "bubbling over" for the tennis season to begin. Come on, girls, get out the tennis rackets, get them shellacked and let's be on our way to the tennis courts in the usual Montreat cooperative spirit. Let's make tennis one of the most outstanding and popular sports of the year. After all, it is one of the most important games in our very well-balanced athletic program. It is a game which we can all play, and since practice makes perfect let us enter into the sport wholeheartedly, become as perfect as possible, and enjoy it in a royal way.

Mary C.

** ** *

WHO IS THIS STUDENT???

Sandy blonde hair.....blue eyes.....a voice so soft and sweet that it makes the rest of us doubly conscious of our sometimes "too loud" tones.....a gentle manner of dealing with all that marks her as a true gentlewoman.

Her sincerity is one of her most delightful characteristics. Her willingness to help makes her loved by all.

A natural leader, she is prominent in Y. P. C. and is also a member of the Student-Faculty Government.

If more words could describe her, they would be: patience, gentleness, sincerity, genuineness.

(Last month: Margaret Niblock)