

ARMY

NURSE CORPUS

NEWS

CONDUCTED BY MISS ELIZABETH P. UZELMEIER

HEARS BIG GUNS

NURSE WRITES OF SERVICE
NEAR THE FRONT.

The following letter was written by Jeanette Brouillard to First Sergeant Leighton. Miss Brouillard was a member of Base Hospital No. 46, Oregon unit, formerly stationed at this hospital.

"France,
August 31, 1918.

"We had a lovely trip on the water and also a very quick one. I was not a bit seasick and enjoyed myself all the way. I worked one night in the hospital on board ship. I have met a number of the girls from camp over here. We have a very nice place for our base hospital near a little village and pretty country around.

"We were very tired of New York and were glad when the orders came to leave. I have been out near the front with an operating team in one of the field hospitals; was gone from the base for five weeks. We had a very exciting time and worked hard most of the time. We never stayed more than five days in any one place. We just stayed during the rush and then moved on. Sometimes we were pretty close to the lines, and always in sound of the guns and barrage.

"We lived in tents most of the time but sometimes we were stationed in deserted French villages, and we used their wine cellars, which are built of stone and under ground, for protection when the Germans were dropping bombs around us and also when they turned their long range guns our way, which they did a number of times. We spent a few days in Paris at one time while waiting orders, and as "Big Bertha" happened to be resting at that time we had a very enjoyable time, and visited places of interest.

"I have been resting ever since I came from the front and went on duty today for the first time. We have been home almost a week but as I was very tired I enjoyed the rest."

MORE REPORT

New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey furnish the eleven trained nurses who have arrived at the hospital during the past week and who are

PLEASANT RIDES

TRAVEL OVER THE COUNTRY WAYS.

The accompanying photograph illustrates but one of the many pleasant rides that have been enjoyed by the nurses at the base hospital recently.

What could be nicer or more agreeable than to journey over the hills and vales, through the winding roads and past the fragrant woods of Dixie at this season of the year, when the first chill is beginning to creep into the air and everything and everyone is full of life and spirit? Apparently our friend of the carriage think that nothing could and undoubtedly they seize every available moment when their many duties will permit them to take advantage of the opportunities offered to see something of the scenery and the country in general in the vicinity of Camp Greene and the base hospital.

The happy members of the party on the day in which the picture was taken are: In the forward seat, Miss Fox Wait, the librarian, and Private Green of the Q. M. C. driving. In the rear seat Miss Susan G. Parish, chief nurse and one of the new probationers.

NURSE MARRIES

Miss Elizabeth McEnany, a nurse in the base hospital since last November, was married last May when she visited her home in Hartford, Conn., on a short leave of absence. She returned to her hospital duties and none suspected of her wedded state.

Two weeks ago Miss McEnany was granted a furlough and again visited her home. A few days later she wired the chief nurse of the U. S. Army Hospital, Camp Greene asking for a discharge and setting out that she was happily married.

now on duty in the various wards.

The new arrivals are:-

S. Alice Lehman from Philadelphia, Pa.

Edyth Kelney from Wellsboro, Pa.

Frances Kellett from Pittsburg, Pa.

Katheleen Theal from Clifton Springs, N. Y.

Bregetta Benonis from West Philadelphia, Pa.

Alice McShane from Newburg, N. Y.

Lillian Darrow from Westpoint, Conn.

Annie C. Burgess from Clifton Springs, N. Y.

Alice Newton from Clifton Springs, N. Y.

Rena Andreas from Midville, N. J.

Amanda Welch from Charlotte, N. C.