

OFFICERS' PAGE

Conducted by Capt. Chas. C. Chandler and Capt. Harry L. Babcock

ANNOUNCES RETURN.

Captain Harold Carney, who has been absent from his duties at the hospital for a long period, first with a serious illness of several months and then with a ninety-day leave spent in the wilderness of New England is back on the job at the X-ray building.

Captain Carney announced his return to the personnel of the hospital with his favorite device—a fire drill. The captain was for a long season fire marshal of the hospital and his thorough drills were awaited with keen anticipation by the men and officers. The bulletins were carefully watched so that the enlisted men knew when to expect a hurry call at night when Captain Carney was to be O. D.

The personnel of the hospital are glad to have this X-ray expert with them again after his prolonged absence and are glad to note his vastly improved appearance and present state of good health and trust that it will continue.

GRANTED DISCHARGE.

Captain George A. Peirce, formerly of the official personnel of the Base Hospital and attached for a long period to the medical staff, has been granted his discharge and left during the past week for his former home in Berlin, N. H., where he expects to resume his practice dropped at the time of his entrance into the service.

RETURNS FROM LEAVE.

The laboratory force has been augmented by the return of Lieutenant Fred Wolf, who has been absent on a ten-day leave spent with his family at his home in Montgomery, Ala.

TRANSFERRED TO N. Y.

Lieutenant Clyde DeMong of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly attached to Ward C-5 and to the operating room, has been transferred to the "Big City" to take a course in Dakin treatment at the Rockefeller Institute there.

REAL SPORT

The former Captain Bing of the Medical Corps has been discharged and has not been forced to salute in two days. Oh, Joy.

GOES TO NEW YORK.

Capt. William B. Wilson of Greensboro, N. C., who has been mess officer of the base hospital since its establishment early in the fall of 1917, has been discharged from the service and has gone to New York city, where he intends to make his future residence.

BECOMES PATIENT.

Capt. George P. Hamner of the medical service has been admitted to the officers' ward with a slight cold. It is expected that his recovery will soon follow and that he will shortly be able to resume his duties in and about the hospital within a few days.

LIKES NEW STATION.

Letters received from Captain Harry Hayes by members of the hospital here indicate that the captain is enjoying his new position on the medical staff of the Base Hospital at Camp Humphrey, Va., very much.

BACK TO THE FARM.

The laboratory force has lost one of its most expert bacteriologists in the person of Captain Leonard Hart, who was discharged from the army during the past week. He returned to his former home in Jackson, Miss., where it is rumored that he has a modern and most up-to-date "bug farm."

Captain Hart had been at the Base Hospital since its establishment in the early days of the war and had done much hazardous work during the epidemics that afflicted the camp during its first few months.

WAS IN WASHINGTON.

Major Francis Palfrey, chief of the medical service, spent three days of the past week in Washington city but has returned and resumed his responsibilities here.

APPLY FOR DISCHARGE.

Two more applications for discharge have been received from the officers and if they are granted the hospital will lose two of its oldest and best known members in the persons of Captain Herman Elwyn and Captain Charles Becker.

RESUME LABORS.

Major Claude Brown is back on the job in the laboratory after a slight illness that caused his admittance to the Officers' Ward for a few days.

Captain Charles Becker has returned to the hospital after a ten-day leave of absence spent in New York city and has taken up his duties on the medical staff pending his hoped for discharge from the service.

At the conclusion of this leave Lieutenant Buckner will report to the Rockefeller Institute in New York city to take a course in Dakin treatment.
