The Second and Fifth period Biology Classes have taken up the study of birds. They have had the pictures of many different birds posted on the bulletin board in the laboratory and the members of both the classes are easily able to recognize these. Several birds' nests have been brought in and some few have killed birds and brought these to class. Some of the members of the two Biology Classes are building bird boxes, some making posters and others are stuffing birds as their project in Biology. It is the sole aim of these classes to be able to recognize the more common birds of this vicinity.

Enjoy Radio Program.

On the morning of February 22, at 11:30, high school and several grammar grades gathered in the school auditorium to listen to the radio program of the bicentennial anniversary celebration of George Washington. We listened to President Hoover's impressive and interesting speech which everyone enjoyed immensely. Other men of importance who took part in the national celebration were Governors of several states, congressmen, Foreign Ambassadors and others. This celebration proved to be a wonderful occasion due to many months of preparation.

To the Dunn Furniture Company, we owe the many thanks for the use of the radio.

Corbett Filling Station Is Robbed

The filling station owned by Julius and Talmage Corbett one mile north of this city was broken into last Tuesday night and practically all its contents stolen. The lock on the gas tank was broken and a quantity of gasoline taken. The thieves gained entrance to the station by breaking out the glass in the front door.

Mrs. C. B. Aycock Guest of P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers' Association met Monday night, February 22, at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. The program for this meeting was built around Commemoration exercises of both George Washington and Founder's Day of the P. T. A. The association had as their honored guest and speaker Mrs. C. B. Aycock, President of the P. T. A. of the Hugh Morson High School in Raleigh.

The exercises opened with a chorus of "America," followed by "Washington's Prayer," read by Rev. D. F. Waddell. The secretary then read the minutes of last month's meeting and a report from the treasury, prepared by the treasurer.

Attendance was taken, and it was found that the attendance prize of one dollar was awarded to Miss Jenkins' 5A and Mr. Jervis' 9th grades. The Room Inspection Committee reported that the banner for neatness was won by Mrs. Perkins' and Miss Spiers' 2nd grade and to Mrs. Blackburn's 11th grade.

The following section of the evening's entertainment was in the hands of Selma's Boy Scouts. The program opened with the entire group of Scouts repeating their pledge. Then a brief introductory speech was made by Hogey Vick, presenting the 12 Scout Laws. Each boy Scout represented one of these qualities, and made a brief, fitting speech on that law, proving at the same time how George Washington lived up to the Scout rules. The following Scout requirements were impersonated by the following Scouts:

- 1—Trust worthy—Bernard Lee
- 2—Loyal—William Adams
- 3—Helpful—Roy Lane
- 4—Friendly—J. C. Avery
- 5—Courteous—Ernest Woodard
- 6—Kind—Fuller Suber
- 7—Obedient—Harold Fulghum
- 8—Cheerful—Erwin Godwin
- 9—Thrifty—Betty Brown
- 10—Brave—Joseph Noble Peedin
- 11—Clean—John Thomas Hughes
- 12—Reverent—Randolph Jones

The entire audience then stood and sang the national anthem while the Boy Scouts saluted the flag.

The guest speaker, Mrs. C. B. Aycock, was then introduced by Mrs. A. A. Ashworth. Mrs. Aycock gave a full, impressive, and very instructive speech on the commemoration of Founder's Day, and new developments in Parent-Teachers' Associations. Mrs. Aycock discussed the necessity of cooperation of parents and teachers, and related some of the most outstanding developments in her own P. T. A. of the Hugh Morson High School.

After her very interesting discourse, the audience was dismissed by a benediction, by Rev. L. T. Singleton.

Chapel Held.

An especially interesting chapel program was presented Thursday, February 18. The High School had as its honored guest, Mr. Brimley of the State Museum, who recounted some of his experiences and adventures while making observations and collecting specimens for the Museum. This was the second visit Mr. Brimley has made to our High School, each time bringing us stories of much interest. His speeches are always greatly enjoyed, and we welcome Mr. Brimley into our midst at all times.

Willing Workers Class Entertained.

The Willing Workers Class of the Methodist Sunday School met with Mrs. W. H. Call Tuesday evening, February 23, with Mrs. R. E. Suber presiding over the business session. Mr. Call, teacher of the class, was present and read a scripture lesson from John 11: 32-44, followed by prayer. After roll call, plans were discussed for putting on a membership drive.

Mr. Call read and discussed a most interesting chapter from the Mission Study Book, the subject being, "Our Medical Missionaries in Foreign Fields."

The hostess then passed paper and pencils for a Washington Contest. Mrs. R. L. Ray and Mrs. J. T. Hughes each making a perfect score were awarded appropriate prizes.

The hostess, assisted by little Annie Hood Hughes and Herbert White, Jr., served cherry ice cream and wafers.

Surprise Birthday Shower.

Her son, James, was let in on the secret and had her ready with hat and coat on to go out and visit a sick neighbor. While she waited for James to come for her, friends and neighbors began to troop in singing, "Happy Birthday."

"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared.

"I gave my daughter Cardui and it helped to relieve irregular..."

SELMA SCOUTS GO ON HIKE.

Assistant Scout Master, Dr. Blackburn, accompanied the Selma troop on a hike last Friday afternoon. The troop hiked out northeast of Selma for about a mile and a half. All scouts took enough provisions to cook supper, and after arriving at their destination the scoutmaster taught the boys formation machinery. This took up about thirty minutes. By this time the boys were beginning to get rather cold, and were led through some brisk running to get them warm. It was time to start preparing supper by this time, because it was growing dark. The boys paired off into twos and built their fires in a straight line, making about eight or nine fires. About forty or fifty minutes was taken to cook and eat. After finishing supper, the scouts cleaned up the place, and left it just as it was when they began cooking. A very fine time was declared by every scout and they look forward to another such hike.

Co-ops To Conduct Essay Contest Again

The Fifth Annual Essay contest to be put on by the North Carolina Cotton Growers Association seems to be of more interest to the students and their parents in Johnston County than any essay contest they have ever put on. The subject this year is "Cotton Production in North Carolina—How To Make It Profitable." It is a subject that all farmers are interested in. The North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association is offering the girls and boys in high school some attractive prizes to tell us how to accomplish this one fact. The prizes this year are a State prize of Fifty Dollars, with a year's scholarship to North Carolina College For Women, Greensboro, Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, or North Carolina State College, Raleigh. The second prize is Twenty-five Dollars; the third prize is Fifteen Dollars; and the fourth prize is Ten Dollars.

Mr. M. G. Mann, Secretary-Treasurer of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Association, has visited several of the schools in the county to talk to them about the essay contest. From the letters J. A. Smith, Field Representative, Smithfield, has received from the students it looks as if there is going to be some good work done in this line this year.

Those students interested in writing this essay, write to the North Carolina Cotton Growers Association, Raleigh, N. C., or to J. A. Smith, Field Representative, Smithfield, N. C., and either will be glad to give any information they can on the subject of this essay contest.
