THE NEED OF THE HOUR

We are hearing very much from economists, politicians, those in office, and those desiring to be in of-.25 fice, about the supreme need of the pre-ent time. Some are saying we must have more taxation in order .25 to balance the budget. Others are declaring we must have less or we are ruined. Some are declaring that .29 if prohibition is not enforced, we are doomed; if it is not repealed, we are lost. Others are declaring we need more legislation of every type and variety. Some are emphatic that what has ruined us is too much
