Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Price and son, Walter, have returned, after spending several weeks in Norfolk, Washington, Baltimore and other northern cities.

Dr. C. P. Harper made a business trip to Raleigh Wednesday.

The eclipse of the sun was the center of attraction in Selma Wednesday. Coming as it did right in the mid afternoon when old sol was blazing forth with such force, the moon's shadow was a welcome visitor during that sweltering period.

Cotton picking is beginning to be the order of the day since the dry hot weather set in a few days ago.

New Cotton From Old Stalks.

(Clayton News)
Mrs. Martha Spence brought to The News office on Monday morning of this week a bunch of cotton stalks that produced last summer, surviving the winter, and are producing squares and bolls again this summer. These stalks were pulled from a patch of cotton on Mrs. Spence's farm near Clayton. The ground was not put in cultivation this year, but the old stalks left in the ground from last year were not to be denied, so they put forth and now promise to bear about a half-stand of cotton.

Smithfield News.

The Smithfield Fire Department was called to Holt Lake three miles south of town at 5 o'clock last Saturday morning in an effort to save the Sau-Gla-Sta Lodge, an 8-room building owned by W. G. Glass, Gray Staples and W. M. Standers, of Smithfield. The firemen rushed a truck to the scene of the fire, but it was too late as the building had been practically destroyed when the fire company reached the lake. The amount of the loss which was said to have been partly covered by insurance, has not been learned.

Mrs. Rachel Royal, mother of Mr. L. T. Royal, of Smithfield, died last Friday afternoon in her 95th year, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Maxwell, of Falcon. The funeral was held in the Baptist church at Autryville, Sunday, and interment was made in the cemetery there.

Mrs. H. G. Gray will direct a school of Missions to be held at the Smithfield Missionary Baptist church beginning on September 4th. Among the teachers will be Dr. H. N. Massey, Mrs. O. L. Duncan, Mrs. Henry Johnson and Misses Mattie Lassiter, Lucile Lee and Juanita Sorrell. There will be daily programs from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m., during the week.

The J. E. Gregory & Co., 10 Cent Store is being moved into the Spiers building on the corner of Third and Market Streets. Mr. Gregory has purchased and remodeled the Spiers building and he now has one of the most desirable locations in town.

Smithfield tobacco warehousemen are busy this week putting on the final touches and getting their warehouses in shape for the opening of the market on September 6th. All are encouraged at the prospects for good prices.

F. J. Guilford, age 56, of Aurora, died at the Johnston County Hospital Tuesday. He was a passenger on that ill-fated Chevrolet car last Sunday when it was wrecked in a collision with a motorcycle near Holt Lake. This was the third death caused by that wreck. The two young men, Victor Motz, 23, and G. H. Clute, 21, of Fayetteville, who were on the motorcycle, were killed instantly when their motorcycle collided head-on with the Chevrolet.

E. V. Wilkins, James R. Stancil and Lemuel Creech, of Smithfield, who have been spending their vacation since school was out, traveling for the Curtis Publishing Co., are spending this week at their homes. They are all expecting to be in school at the State University later on. During their vacations they have traveled through North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, and have made good records as salesmen. They have all kept their names well up towards the top on the honor roll.

Mrs. J. C. Stancil and sons, James and Moses, are leaving Thursday to spend the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Perkins at White Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins have been occupying a summer cottage there for a couple of weeks.

Mr. Josiah Stancil of Kenly R. 1, and his son, William H. Stancil, were visitors in Smithfield last Monday. William H. Stancil, who has been in the aviation service for eleven years, was on his way from Hamstead, Long Island, N. Y., to Kansas City, Mo., and stopped off to attend the Stancil reunion which is held annually at the residence of G. I. Stancil, Kenly Route 2. He left Tuesday for Kansas City, via Johnston City, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky. He is in the employ of The Trans-Continental and Western Air Express Co.

JOHNSTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION SEP. 7

The Johnston County Sunday School Convention, which will be participated in by all Sunday School people of all denominations, will be held at Progressive Presbyterian Church, five miles south of Princeton, N. C., on Wednesday, September 7th, 1932, beginning at 9:45 o'clock a. m.

An elaborate program is in prospect and it is hoped that all Sunday schools in Johnston County will send delegates and representatives. The public is most cordially invited to attend these sessions.

SALES WERE LIGHTER TUESDAY AT FAIRMONT

Fairmont, Aug. 30.—Yesterday's official returns, 730,432 pounds, average, $15.73. Sales were lighter today and quality lower, but the market was unchanged.

HEARD AROUND THE COURT HOUSE

Quite a number of the readers of the Johnstorian-Sun are anxiously awaiting the publication of the lists of the names of all those who have received any of the government flour which is being distributed by the Red Cross through the county welfare office. Well, maybe they will not have to wait very long, as H. V. Rose has promised to furnish the list of names, and the editor of the Johnstorian-Sun has agreed to print them in that paper free of charge provided that the list shall be furnished in proper shape for publication within 30 days from the date of last week's issue of the paper, which date was August 25th. It will thus be seen that the 30 days time limit will expire on September 24, 1932. This will give ample time to have the list gotten up in good shape. Some people have expressed a desire to see a complete list of both white and colored distributors, giving the name and post office of each of those who have been appointed, either by the chairman of the Red Cross or the superintendent of welfare, to distribute the flour in various sections of the county.

Governor Roosevelt and his Democratic Lieutenants received a severe jolt last Sunday, when Al Smith refused to dine with them. Ever since Roosevelt was nominated as the Democratic candidate for President, he has been doing everything possible to get the support of Al Smith and the whole Tammany organization. Last week they arranged a program that they evidently thought would do the work. Major Frank Hague, of Jersey City, N. J., who is said to cooperate with the New York Tammany organization, and who was a supporter of Al Smith in the Chicago Democratic convention, had been induced to get on the Roosevelt band wagon, and he staged a big rally at Seagist, N. J., last Saturday and announced that Roosevelt would go down and make a big liquor speech. They many thousands of dollars were no doubt spent in making preparation, and getting together the red-nosed liquor soaks and drunkards that hang out around New York and the numerous towns in New Jersey, in order to make a big show in both number and enthusiasm, in the hope of impressing Smith to such an extent that he might be induced to join Hague on the Roosevelt band wagon. Then to put on the finishing touch, as they thought, a big feat was prepared last Sunday and an urgent invitation was sent to Al Smith to be present and dine with Governor Roosevelt and about 200 Democratic leaders. This was done in the hope of bringing irresistible pressure to bear on Smith and get him to promise to make at least one speech during the campaign and asking his friends to vote for Roosevelt for President. But after all their work and expense, they failed to land Smith. Instead of attending the Governor's big Sunday dinner Al Smith went over to Far Rockaway beach and dined with his son. The Democratic leaders had estimated that one speech during the campaign from Al Smith in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt for President would enable them to save at least one million votes for the National Democratic ticket that otherwise they think will be lost. It now looks like Roosevelt has lost that million of votes and that Hoover is thereby one million votes nearer the goal.

A writer whose letter appeared in the Public Pulse column of the Greensboro News a few days ago said:

While I have no financial interest in the securing of the bonus, I have been and am now of the opinion that the ex-service certificates should have been anticipated, and my advocacy of a bond issue to justify the two billion two hundred million dollars, the amount required to meet the payment has been borne out by the fact that only last week, a treasury offering of 325 million dollars was over subscribed 12 times.

The fact that this issue of Government securities was oversubscribed twelve times proves that President Hoover and his co-workers have preserved the credit and stability of our Government regardless of the effects of the depression, and that the people knowing it to be sound are not afraid to invest their money in its notes or bonds. If the Democrats had been allowed to have their way during the last session of Congress it might have been different.

Miss Grace Cawthorne is visiting relatives in Erwin this week.
