HOGUE VICK, EDITOR

ROSABELLE HINTON

Miss Rosabelle Hinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hinton, graduated from the Selma High school last spring. She was editor of this page last year and made a good one. Hogue Vick, son of Dr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Vick, has been elected editor by the Senior Class for 1932-33. Hogue is very popular and will no doubt make a first-class editor for this page; and it is hoped that the school faculty will co-operate with him in making this one of the most interesting school pages ever put out in Selma.

Literary Societies.

It is the plan of the School Officials to have the students organize and run two literary societies this year. This work will be under the auspices of the Department of English. The organization will be gotten under way soon after the opening of school.

The Selma School News for the year will be in charge of Edward Hogue Vick of the Senior Class. Other members of the staff will be selected at an early date.

During the school year, one period of the day will be given over to student activities. Part of this time will be taken up with dramatic work, debating, music, and various club functions.

Out of last year's Graduating Class eight are going to College this year. They are as follows:

- Amy Ashworth—Brenau—Gainesville, Ga.
- Edna Mae Cameron and Rosabel Hinton—North Carolina College For Women—Greensboro, N. C.
- Irene Jones—Atlantic Christian College—Wilson, N. C.
- Mary Croon Gulley—E. T. C. T., Greenville, S. C.
- Julia George—Laurinburg, N. C.
- William B. Aycock—State College, Raleigh, N. C.
- Paul McMillan—Louisburg College, Louisburg, N. C.

Z. WOOD DIES AT HOME IN JOHNSTON

Smithfield, Oct. 3.—D. J. Wood, prominent citizen of Meadow township, Johnston county, died this morning, aged 72 years. The funeral will occur Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, and interment will be in the family burial ground.

HOOVER CART PARADE

(Staged in Johnston County) A thrill of excitement and political craze found place in all that stood to gaze, At men who rode by twos and fours, Riding with thoughts that saneness deplores.

In all events of this kind 'tis sworn, Its purpose is not for political scorn; But foolish is he who cannot see How much it means to election plea.

Patrolmen led in sedative manner, Burning their gas for needy's banner; While Johnston's sons rode cart and mule, Proving they were just a political tool.

Whoever is elected will do some good, But neither'll do as much as he could; For while these plowmen were pulled by chain, Roosevelt was riding in a Special train.

—Carlton Blackman, Selma, N. C.

Appointed Receiving Agent For Cotton Co-Ops Here

Mr. C. A. Corbett advises us that he has been appointed receiving agent for the Cotton Co-Operative Association for Selma and vicinity. Also arrangements have been made whereby all those who have received Government loans may store their cotton in the Optional Pool until March 31, 1933, or in the Seasonal Pool until May 31, 1933. Regular advances will be made.

Indications are that cotton will bring better prices in the near future and this plan affords the farmers an opportunity for storing their cotton where it will be amply protected by insurance, thereby giving the farmer much better protection than he will have by keeping his cotton at home, besides having the advantage of the liberal advances to be obtained.

For further information any interested farmer can see Mr. Corbett at Selma and he will be glad to assist in any way he can that is in line with the Co-Operative plan.

State Fair Opens Monday, Oct 10th

Raleigh, Oct. 3.—The North Carolina State Fair at Raleigh will open its gates next Monday, October 10, for the fifth annual exposition under direct state control. It is now operated under the supervision of the State Board of Agriculture, composed of Commissioner William A. Graham, ex-office chairman; D. H. Bridgers, of Warsaw; George Watts Hill, Durham; D. Reeves Noland, of Crabtree; J. G. Staton, of William-ton, and Charles S. Young, of Shelby.

Admission prices have been greatly reduced this year. Single tickets for adults will be sold for 50 cents, instead of 75 cents as formerly, while those desiring to do so may purchase season tickets before October 8 for $2. These tickets are good for 12 admissions and may be had by addressing T. B. Smith, secretary-manager of the Fair at Raleigh. Also, there will be on sale block tickets good for four admissions, at $1, while children will be admitted for 25 and 15 cents.

The exhibits, to feature every phase of North Carolina's agricultural, industrial, social and educational life, will be on a larger scale than ever before, while the amusement features will eclipse anything ever seen here before. The free acts which may be seen from the grandstand day and night, are such as visitors to New York often pay several dollars to witness in the great metropolitan playhouses. The midway will be much larger than ever before and there will be forms of amusement there for old and young alike.

Premiums this year will aggregate $15,000 or $20,000, while the horse racing will be especially attractive.

The Fair will be open day and night between October 10 and 15,

Registration Books To Open Oct. 8th

Mr. C. A. Corbett, the Registrar for Selma township, advises us that the registration books will open Saturday, October 8th and will remain open for 30 days. Mr. Corbett will be found at the Mayor's office in Selma during each Saturday of October 8th, October 15th, October 22, and October 29th.

This registration is intended for registering those who have not already registered in this township and for those who have become of voting age since the last registration. All legally qualified voters who have moved into this township since the last general election and who have not registered in this precinct should see that they are properly registered; and all those who have moved out of this township and who will have been out of the township four months or more prior to the election should get their transfer card from the registrar of this township and then register in the township in which they now reside.

The same rule that applies to Selma township holds good in the other townships of Johnston county.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

No less an authority than Frank R. Kent, a democrat, writing for a democratic newspaper, declares that the Democratic politicians are basing their campaign upon the theory that if only they will "make no mistakes" they can sit back and let the depression elect their ticket. By "making no mistakes" they meant that their candidate must not say and Vice President must not say anything that would offend anybody. Above everything the candidates must avoid saying anything that would brand them as radical. Nor must anybody be permitted to speak for them who was tarred with the radical stick.

And this noble strategy is being carried out. The clear Roosevelt policy, as Mr. Kent expresses it, has been "to trust the Progressives to hold their belief that he is 'one of us' while convincing the conservatives that he isn't. To that end, again quoting Mr. Kent, "he has had two careful Columbia University professors helping him with his speeches," and "has not said very much that was important." He has shed no new light upon conditions, says Mr. Kent, "and some of the remedies he has proposed have seemed purposely cloudy and vague." He has "avoided the deeply controversial subject of the bonus," and he has "avoided antagonizing any minority, and expressed solicitude for every class."

In other words, by confession of his friends, Gov. Roosevelt is deliberately making a perfectly colorless campaign, proposing nothing concrete enough to make an issue, offering no definite program, antagonizing nobody—basing his hopes of election upon capitalizing the distress of the country and gaining the support of organized groups that want to raid the treasury. As a part of this plan the candidate for Vice President has up to this time been completely muzzled, as have such radicals as Senator Norris and Senator Wheeler, neither of whom has been permitted to speak under the auspices of the Democratic National Committee. Huey (The Kingfish) Long has announced that he will speak for Roosevelt, but Mr. Kent, above quoted, says he will be kept out of the Mississippi and will not be given a radio hook-up.

A noble campaign indeed. And yet the man who makes it is endeavoring in every way he can to capitalize the name he bears and to convey the impression that his election will "put another Roosevelt in the White House." It would indeed be "another" Roosevelt. Can anybody imagine THE Roosevelt making a bussyfooting campaign, trying to sneak into office by concealing his convictions, trying to get everybody's vote by offending nobody, seeking to win an election by capitalizing his country's distress?

Fred Pyroned of Vandese, Burke county, has sold over 100 bushels of grapes from his vineyard where 70 different varieties are being grown.

The farmers' community clubs which have operated so successfully in Anson county for a number of years will be organized into the Grange according to plans now being made.

and transportation companies operating in and out of Raleigh will give attractive rates to the Capital City this year the biggest crowd of any Fair Week in history is expected.

Additional features, which will embrace some genuine surprises, perhaps, will be announced from time to time.

THE DRINK.

Now if the drink comes back again, I think it will be a great sin. And when they get the whiskey in the can, You will see the women drunk more than the men. You will meet her on the street, And she will be a sight to meet; She will have a cigarette between her lips, And a bathing suit upon her hips.

And they will leave their children at home To go wherever they may roam; And November is the time to keep whiskey out, Altho it will make them fret and pout.

Now if you want to get things right, You men had better join in the fight. Who will drink it when it comes—Will it be dad, mother, daughter or son?

Whiskey will wreck the homes of men, And will put our children on the road to sin. Well, they must wipe whiskey from the slate, If they don't, it will ruin our state; And we are bound to own and confess

It will ruin our country, home, food and dress. We must all do our very best, For we don't any of us need the mess.

Whiskey will cause our children to go ragged and sad; It will not be for any good; it will be for the bad.

Now it is up to all who goes and votes to think—We don't need that kind of drink. Take the boy, the girl, the car and gas;

It will take them to torment mightily fast.

Now what are you going to do when November comes? Are you going to support the whiskey bums?

People once voted for the Christian man, But now they vote for the worst they can.

They say if they could get the bar-rooms back, That they would take care of all of our tax;

Now that is old Satan telling you that, For it will rid you of coat, shoes and hat.

Now if you don't go and vote, get down and pray, For that is the best plan to keep whiskey away.

—Mrs. Fannie Brown, McCullers, N. C.

Merchandizing the Railway ONE-WAY COACH TRAVEL BARGAIN FARES At 1-2c Per Mile

This Baby has a secret which every mother should know!

If you could see this adorable youngster in real life, you'd be attracted immediately to the exquisite texture of her skin... Smooth as the velvety rose petal, it is the pink of perfection—and very kissable!

What is her secret? It's as simple as A-B-C. Or perhaps, we should say "Z. B. T." For that is the name of the pure, smooth, snowy-white powder which rains down every day on her precious little body... Z. B. T. Baby Talcum!

Her doctor told her nurse, and her nurse told her mother that Z. B. T. is the very best health and beauty treatment for an infant's delicate skin. If you should ask your doctor, he'd say that this very same Z. B. T. is perfect for grown-ups, too!

For Z. B. T. is a mildly medicated compound talc that not only soothes the skin, but heals, as well! Free from lime, mica or any other irritant, Z. B. T. contains a special ingredient which absorbs moisture, neutralizes acids, and guards against infection.

Your druggist or chain store sells Z. B. T. in three sizes—50c, 25c and 10c. Reject substitutes! Get a can of Z. B. T. today and test it yourself. Or, if you prefer, mail the coupon with 4 cents to cover postage and we will gladly send you a full-size "Junior" can.
