Finds Market Garden Pays Good Income

Some North Carolina gardeners are finding that it pays to plant a good acreage to vegetables for sale in nearby markets.

J. B. Taylor of Newland, Avery County, cashed in on this idea last year when he sold the produce from a two-acre garden to tourists and hotel keepers in the amount of $400.

In addition he canned some 400 quarts of surplus vegetables for winter use and kept his own family supplied with fresh vegetables during the growing season. He says he gave away about $15 worth of vegetables to neighbors and others.

"We know that the home garden from one-half to one acre in size will supply a farm family with all the vegetables needed during the year if the plots is given the proper attention," says H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturist at State College. "There are special conditions, however, where one might enlarge his garden area and become a market gardener. Mr. Taylor did this last year and he knows exactly the results of his operations because he kept an itemized account of all expenses and sales. He sold $400 worth of vegetables to nearby tourist hotels and boarding houses; gave away about $15 worth and canned 400 quarts for winter use. His cost for seed and fertilizer amounted to $20.80 which leaves rather a good labor income."

Mr. Taylor sold these things from his garden: English peas, head lettuce, onions, beets, carrots, spinach, turnips, cauliflower, cabbage, Lima beans, sweet corn, snap beans and squash.

In addition, he had a small acreage of Irish potatoes, red raspberries and ever-bearing strawberries from which he sold the surplus. No itemized account was kept of these sales, Niswonger says.

John D. Rockefeller Short Of Cash

Ormond Beach, Fla., March 7.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., ninety-three-year-old multi-millionaire, suffering temporary financial stringency with the rest of the nation under the country-wide banking holiday, ran his household today on a credit basis. Nestor W. Davis, his secretary, said:

"Mr. Rockefeller's doing the best he can under the circumstances just like everyone else."

The only outward indication of his personal reaction to the emergency was a cessation of the stream of shiny new dimes he habitually distributed to small boys and acquaintances as souvenirs.

Caught with only a small amount of cash in his winter home, the Casements, Rockefeller has used his unlimited credit to provide his household necessities.

The financial emergency, however, caused the magnate, once the nation's richest man, no worry. He said:

"Everything will be all right. We must hope for the best."

Three Persons Killed By Passenger Train

Kannapolis, March 6.—Henry Davis, 34, unemployed, and his two daughters were instantly killed here today when a Southern railway passenger train struck their automobile as Davis was taking the girls to school.

Davis apparently did not see the approaching train as he drove over Graever's crossing and the train, which does not stop here, carried the machine over 200 yards down the track.

The daughters were Thelma, 16, and Catherine, 14. Another child and Davis' wife survive.

The coroner was out of the city today and Chief of Police Ira Chapman said it was probable that no inquest would be held.

As far as was known, the only eyewitness was Richard Swink who said Davis "apparently did not look in the direction" from which the train approached.

Swink said the body of Thelma was hurled from the automobile after it had been carried 100 feet down the track and that in another 100 feet the body of Catherine was thrown clear. Davis' body was found crushed in the wreckage of the machine.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late today.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

Mr. F. M. Edgerton, District Engineer of this district, is asking the full co-operation of all farmers in keeping their farm harrows and other farm implements off the roads, and to stop all field plowing before entering the road gutters as this drags dirt and other rubbish into the side gutters, and water furrows extending to these gutters causes sand to wash in and fill the gutters.

Kind Of Fertilizer, Factor With Tobacco

The growth and quality of tobacco is greatly influenced by the kind of commercial fertilizer used and now that growers are planning to secure their mixtures for the coming season, the question is how to get the right kind at a given price.

"For five years, we have been conducting about 15 demonstrations a year with leading growers in attempting to find the best fertilizer mixtures for the different sections," says E. Y. Floyd, tobacco specialist at State College. "These demonstrations have shown that an 8-3-5 is the best mixture on soils where tobacco grows to plenty of size and an 8-4-6 mixture is suitable where the crop does not normally grow to a desirable size."

But there is more to consider than just the analysis, Floyd says. The phosphate makes new growth and helps maturity; nitrogen gives growth and potash makes for quality. A small amount of chlorine is beneficial, but over two percent is harmful. Magnesia also is beneficial and should be used in most tobacco fertilizers. Those farmers who have used dolomitic limestone in the last few years probably do not need to worry about this element. The magnesia controls sandstone.

In supplying nitrogen, Floyd recommends 50 percent mineral and 50 percent organic. Of the mineral, one-half should come from nitrate of soda and one-half from sulfate of ammonia. Of the organic, one-half should come from cottonseed meal and one-half from such carriers as blood, Peruvian Guano, or high grade animal tankage. Fish meal should be used lightly, especially so on thin, sandy soils.

Apply the fertilizer about a week to ten days before transplanting, he cautions.

Judge Hayes Defers Senator Davis' Trial

Hearing On Lottery Charge Postponed Because Senator Is Needed In Washington.

New York, March 6.—Heeding a plea that United States Senator James J. Davis would be needed in Washington for the special session of Congress, starting Thursday, Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes today postponed his trial on federal lottery charges until next Monday.

The adjournment was granted on the understanding that the attorneys would not ask further postponement.

"I am reluctant to do this," the court said, "but I cannot be unmindful of the fact that a national emergency exists and that every state should have full representation in the national Congress. This postponement is granted in the understanding that the case go to trial next Monday. I hope that by that time the national emergency will have been met, but if not, we'll have to go along, anyway."

Davis' attorneys had told the court that his trial, if it went on now, would deprive Pennsylvania of its due representation, and that Davis was slated to be a member of the banking committee of the senate.

Two indictments against Davis and two co-defendants concern the alleged shipment of lottery tickets across state lines for charity balls conducted by the Loyal Order of Moose, of which Davis is director general.

Judge Hayes is from Greensboro, N. C. He came to New York to sit in the Davis trial because of an overfull calendar in this district.

During the past seven years, Lincoln county poultry growers have sold 700,000 pounds of surplus poultry for a total income to the farmers of $151,000.

Three Things Required For Better Pastures

A fertile soil, adapted seed mixtures and more seed per acre are three essentials in successful, permanent pasture building in North Carolina.

As outlined by A. C. Kimrey, dairy extension specialist at State College, these three factors are too often overlooked by those attempting to balance their farm operations through the addition of livestock. It is foolish, he says, to attempt to establish a good pasture on land that is poor to produce a crop profitably. If the land is not fertile enough to produce a good crop of corn, it will not produce a good crop of pasture grasses.

In securing adapted grasses the best plan is to find out which grasses have survived in previous plantings. In many North Carolina counties, the orchard, herds, Kentucky Blue and Dallis grasses have out-lived others. Lespedeza and white Dutch clovers are the two legumes which seem to be generally adapted.

Given a fertile soil and adapted grasses the next factor is to seed heavily enough to secure a sod. Kimrey finds that the usual plan is to make a thin sprinkling of seed which takes too much time to cover the ground. When the hot summer sun comes along, the grasses are killed. A sufficient stand of grass and legumes to completely cover the land before killed by summer heat is rarely ever secured.

Therefore, he recommends not less than 50 to 60 pounds of grass seed an acre and says a good mixture for one acre is as follows: 15 pounds of orchard grass; 10 pounds of herds grass or red top; 8 pounds of Kentucky Blue grass; 5 pounds of Dallis grass; 5 pounds of White Dutch clover and 15 pounds of common lespedeza. Seeding with this mixture on each acre should establish a pasture sod, Kimrey says.

Many Attend Rites For Senator Walsh

Dignitaries of Church and State Pay Tribute At Bier of Statesman At Capital.

Washington, March 6.—About a flower banked bier in the senate chamber, dignitaries of church and state bade a sorrowing farewell today to the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Beside the dully gleaming silvered-bronzed casket near the vice president's desk in the chamber in which Walsh served 20 years, sat the members of his family in deep mourning.

A scant three feet away, President Roosevelt, hands crossed in his lap and head half-bowed, added his homage to the memory of the quiet Montana legislator whom he had chosen to be his attorney general.

Clothed with all the dignity of their robes of office, Chief Justice Hughes and associate justices of the Supreme court likewise sat in reverent silence. Members of Congress, the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and the commanders of the military services, too, were present. Mrs. Roosevelt looked on from the presidential gallery, while hundreds of others less notable watched from the other galleries.

Archbishop Michale J. Curley of Baltimore, assisted by Bishop John McNamara of Washington, the auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, and other prelates in the colorful robes of their ranks, officiated at the obsequies with the impressive ritual of the Roman Catholic church.

Facing the flowing crucifix at the head of the casket, the archbishop said of the late senator:

"He loved and served God—he loved and served his fellow man."

Senator Walsh's widow, the former Senora Nieves Perez Chaumont de Truffin, of Havana, to whom the senator was wed but a few days before his death Thursday morning, had to be assisted from place by her Marcial Truffin, and John Walsh, the senator's brother, as the ceremonial ended.

Other members of the family retired immediately to the Walsh apartment here to compose themselves for the long journey to the final resting place in Helena, Montana, which began this afternoon. Mrs. Walsh, the widow, was placed under a doctor's care and did not attempt the journey.

After services in the Catholic cathedral at Helena on Thursday morning, burial will be solemnized in the Resurrection cemetery by the side of the senator's first wife, who died in 1917.

Farm Questions Answered At State

Q. What kind and amount of fertilizer should I use for Irish potatoes on sandy loam soil?

A. Use a mixture of 7 percent phosphoric acid, 5 percent ammonia, and 5 percent potash. For best results, use 2,000 pounds to the acre and mix well with the soil before the potatoes are planted. A side application of 150 pounds of sulphate of ammonia or 200 pounds of nitrate of soda should be made when the plants are from 4 to 6 inches high.

Q. What causes blood spots in eggs and how can this condition be remedied?

A. Eggs with blood clots or spots appear during the season of heavy production and are caused by the rupture of a blood vessel in the ovary. There is no way of correcting this condition but the eggs can be detected by candling and removed from those offered for sale. This condition, however, is only temporary and is not consistently found in the production of any one bird.

Q. How many dahlia stalks should be left and how should the plants be cultivated?

A. Leave only one strong stalk. All others that come up from the root should be removed. All buds should have deep cultivation until the plants begin to bloom after which the cultivation should be very shallow. A heavy, straw mulch can be used in place of the shallow cultivation after blooming.

Death of Little Nancy Hazel Creech.

On Wednesday morning, February 15th, just after the sun rose, the Death Angels visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gid Creech and took from them their darling little baby, Nancy Hazel. Her sudden death came as an entire shock to the community. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh; blessed be the name of the Lord.

Weep not, dear ones, as those who have no hope, for she is resting in the arms of Jesus. We know she cannot come to us but if we will be prepared when our time comes, we surely can go to her. She was only one more bud on earth to bloom in Heaven. She leaves to mourn their loss, father, mother, one brother and five sisters.

The funeral was held at Hephzibah Baptist church Thursday afternoon, by their pastor, Rev. L. E. Godwin, after which the little body was taken to the Woodard cemetery in the presence of a large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives. The pallbearers were: Floyd Holloman, Loyd Starling, Melton Woodard, Ferrell Little. The flower girls were: Martha, Mary and Mary Elizabeth Thompson, Martha Sanders, Madeline Pilkington, Rachel Summerlin, Pauline Woodard. The floral offerings were beautiful.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is still;
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.

One by one the Lord will call us,
As our labors here are done,
And as then we cross the River,
May we meet her one by one.

MRS. WALTER PITTMAN,
Her Aunt.

Tobacco seed beds covered with grain straw are producing excellent plants, report those Edgecombe county growers who tried the plan this season.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Finally Pronounced Dead By Doctors

Deleware Man Who Had "Died" Several Times At Last Appears To Have Succumbed.

One of the strangest cases in medical annals ended Saturday night at Wilmington, Delaware, as Leroy Taylor, 43, officially was pronounced dead.

Taylor actually died on Thursday, but not until exhaustive tests over a period of two days failed to show any signs of life, and rigor mortis set in full were attending physicians ready to state unequivocally that he was ready for the undertaker.

That was because Taylor had "died" several times before.

Once, in 1927, he dropped in the Reading railroad station in Philadelphia. Authorities pronounced him dead. He was taken to the morgue and placed on a slab to await identification.

The attendant went out of the room for a moment. Returning, he took one look, shrieked in terror, and fled.

For Taylor was sitting up, gazing about him in bewilderment.

Several times later Taylor seemed dead, and ordinary tests failed to show otherwise. A stethoscope gave no indication of a heart beat. But each time, after a period of an hour or two, Taylor revived.

The cause lay in a war injury. As a result of it, a vein and an artery in his head, his family said, were connected and venous blood seeped from the vein into the arterial system.

When sufficient venous blood got into the arterial system, a condition difficult for physicians to explain other than in medical terms resulted. Approximately what happened was that masses of bubbles appeared in the blood.

That would result in a deep sleep so similar to death, his family declared, as to defy ordinary, perfunctory examination.

Wilson county farmers have purchased some 4,000 pounds of lespezea seed so far in 1933, reports county agent W. L. Adams.

Running short of corn due to the drought last summer, a group of Johnston county farmers cooperated to buy 2,000 bushels recently.
