THAT GLAD EASTER DAY

On Calvary's hill stood an old rugged cross,
Where they nailed my redeemer and King of the earth,
He said it is finished, they laid Him away;
But Jesus arose that glad day.

CHORUS:

O glorious day! O glad Easter day,
When the angels rolled the stone away;
Around the dark tomb the soldiers all lay,
But Jesus arose that glad Easter day.

Sweet flowers now bloom 'round the sacred tomb,
Where Christ our Saviour was buried that day;
The soldiers kept watch through the long dark night,
For fear He'd be taken away.

And now he stands with beckoning hands,
To lead all who will to that beautiful land,
Where angels await to welcome us there
To that home in heaven so fair.

A PILLOW OF CLOUD.

BY M. L. STANCLIL

When moisture is plentiful and the temperature high,
We see a small pillow of cloud form up in the sky.
We may stand and watch it grow, but we can't tell how,
For, as it was in the beginning, the same is true now.

The mixture of heat and cold with highly moist air
May bring peals of thunder from an explosion up there.
The lightning blazes forth from the pillow of cloud,
With a dazzling glare accompanied by a noise very loud.

The rain pours in torrents as the angry clouds form,
And we witness the power of God as it begins to storm.
The thickening shadows cover the earth like a shroud,
As God works mysteriously through a pillow of cloud.

When Moses was on Mount Sinai where God gave the law,
It was an awe inspiring sight that the Israelites saw.
A pillow of cloud formed over Mount Sinai's lofty brow,
For God must get a message to His people somehow.

Moses and Aaron goeth upon the mountain all alone,
Where God wrote with His finger on tables of stone.
God told Moses not to let the people break through and gaze,
While the lightnings were flashing and the mountain ablaze.

Peter, James and John went with Christ on the Mount alone,
Where Christ was transfigured and His glory made known.
They saw Moses and Elias and Christ talking to those two,
And Peter was so frightened he didn't know what to do.

Then it was that a pillow of cloud overshadowed them all,
And a voice from out of the cloud was heard to call.
There they stood, all no doubt scared enough to run,
While God told them Christ was His beloved Son.

So when we see a pillow of cloud, let us remember each time
That this little cloud has a history most sublime.
From a little whitish clump to a storm cloud it may grow,
And become a giant blackboard for God to paint His bow.

God's power is enveiled in these little cloud pillows,
Which often make tall trees sway like tiny willows.
When thunderbolts roll and the lightnings play near,
Man grows more humble in spirit as he trembles with fear.

CORNED GASOLINE

It is asserted that if a law were enacted requiring all gasoline used in motors to be diluted with a 10 per cent mixture of grain alcohol, a new market would be created for 680 million bushels of corn a year.
