MOTHER'S DAY, MAY 14

The great events of this world are not revolutions, and economic conferences and banking reforms. The great events of this world are babies.

The most important people in this world are not soldiers, and the statesmen and bankers. The most important people in this world are mothers, who are called upon to bring into existence a new generation.

So it is fitting that on Mother's Day we honor mothers. It is even more fitting that on this day we should take steps to make motherhood safe for them, as it is agreed by leading authorities that at least half the 16,000 women who annually die in childbirth could be saved by adequate maternity care.

A meeting aimed to help remedy the situation is scheduled to be held in New York City May 12th, with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as principal speaker. A number of outstanding medical authorities and educational leaders are to be on the program. Emphasis is to be placed on two important steps to be taken. First, people should understand that much depends on the choice of the doctor, and select one known to have had experience in maternity cases. After selecting him, parents must trust his judgment, and not to prevail upon him to make painless a process which cannot always be made free from pain without increasing the risk of infection and other undesirable complications. Second, if a hospital is chosen, it should be one of high standards, such as those approved by the American College of Surgeons, for despite the fact that each year finds more women going to hospitals, there is no corresponding decrease in the mortality rate. In fact, many authorities believe it is safer for a woman to have her baby at home, if conditions there are suitable, unless the mother's condition requires special care.

The Maternity Center Association of New York, which is sponsoring the Mother's Day meeting, has made a notable contribution to knowledge of what adequate maternity care can do to save mother's lives. Among 4,726 women under their care over a period of eight years in a certain section of New York City, the death rate was reduced two-thirds.

Among those to be present at the Mother's Day meeting are: Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor; Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming; Miss Grace Abbott, Chief of the Children's Bureau; Dr. Walter Chipman, noted obstetrician of Montreal; Dr. Linsy Williams, Managing Director of the New York Academy of Medicine; Dr. J. Allison Hodges, President of the Medical Society of the State of Virginia and Dr. S. S. Goldwater of the American Hospital Association.

With such an imposing array of well-informed and influential people behind this movement to "Make Motherhood Safe for Mothers," it is not too much to expect the new deal to include the "Forgotten Woman."

SELMA'S COTTON AND CHICKEN MARKET LEADS

The farmers no doubt are watching Selma's cotton market. Mr. C. A. Corbett, buyer for the Austin & Ogburn Cotton Co., and Mr. D. M. Hayes, buyer for two of Selma's cotton mills, are anxious to buy every bale of cotton that is brought to the Selma market at the highest price of any market in the cotton belt. These men are experienced cotton men and the farmers will get full credit for the various grades of his cotton and the highest price for same.

Farmers who have cotton to sell will be pleased if they bring their cotton to the Selma market.

As a poultry market, Selma has for a long time been a leader. The farmers throughout the county are growing more and more wise to this fact, and almost daily we see new faces coming in with chickens. A Selma citizen who has been in business here for years said to us the other day: "The Selma chicken market certainly is growing. Almost daily I see strangers here selling poultry who are not former Selma customers."

The Farmers Exchange as well as several local grocery stores here are buying poultry for cash or in trade and are paying the farmers all that the market will bear. People naturally like to sell where they can get the cash if they want it—

A GREAT TRIP

Elsewhere in this paper will be found the schedule for the free trip to be given by the Johnstonian-Sun for all who turn into this office $200 in subscriptions to this paper. Besides seeing the big city of Chicago, the traveler will have an opportunity to see the choice exhibits of the entire world at the World's Greatest Fair. This will permit the winner of one of these trips to see more and hear more about what the world is doing in science and art in a few days than he or she could learn from books in weeks or months or even years.

And then, aside from what may be seen and heard at the great World's Fair, the sights along the way going and coming from Chicago are worth the effort it will cost to make the trip. You can board a pullman train right here in Selma which will take you right through the heart of the mountains of Western North Carolina where your eyes can behold some of the prettiest scenery to be found anywhere in all the world. Those who have never visited the mountain section of this state have no idea what awaits those who are so fortunate as to win one of these great trips. You owe it to yourself to make just such a trip—something that you will not only greatly enjoy every inch of the way, but in years to come you will have an experience to tell to your friends and acquaintances that few people will ever acquire in this life. If you should live to a ripe old age, you will still be able to tell this story to children and adults yet unborn as they listen spell bound to your words of wisdom gained on this wonderful trip.

If you should do nothing else this summer from now until the closing day of this campaign but work to the end that you succeed in winning a free ticket so you can make this trip, you will find that you have never devoted a few weeks of your time to a better advantage in all your life. Such an opportunity may never present itself to you again, so why not enlist now and get busy before somebody else works the field which is ripe to the harvest. You do not necessarily have to secure 200 one year subscriptions or renewals to win. Some of your friends and acquaintances would no doubt be glad to pay their subscription to the Johnstonian-Sun for a period of 3 to 5 years in advance rather than see you lose such an opportunity. If you have to take some six months subscriptions, each of these will count 50 cents on the $200 you need to turn in when the Free Ticket is issued to you. This free ticket does not mean railroad fare alone, for all your expenses are included, such as hotels bills, bus fare to and from the Fair Grounds, entrance to the Fair Grounds, a boat trip by night on Lake Michigan, sight-seeing trips about Chicago and many other forms of free entertainment. If you had plenty of money to pay your own way to this great World's Fair, you would not be able to see as much as those who go on this trip, because those who have worked out this program have done so with the idea in mind to give those who go on this Special trip, sponsored by the Southern Railway and the Press of the State, the most and the Best that can be offered in accommodations, sight-seeing and educational advantages. So don't lose any more time in making up your mind what to do about it, but decide NOW to be a winner and by exerting a little effort you can win.

If, for any reason, you should enlist and get only a part of the required amount, but not enough to win a free ticket, you will be paid 25c on each dollar you turn in; and then if you had to buy your ticket the amount commissions you would receive would help you pay for the ticket and you could go right along with the rest of the bunch with the same advantages as though you had won the required amount.

DO YOU WANT TO GO?

By M. L. STANCIL

Do you want to go to the World's greatest Fair And see the works of science and art so rare; Would you be interested in taking such a trip Without having to take your purse on your hip?

Then, if you would, just write and let us know it, And we will be glad to explain just how to do it. In fact, if you will read this issue of the Sun, You will then understand just how it is done.

Don't let this summer pass without this vacation— Nothing to equal it anywhere in all the nation. You can go all the way in a Special Pullman car, Which is the safest to ride and the freest from jar.

You can get on board at Selma and go all the way In just a little more than a night and a day. The mountain scenery is so beautiful and rare That it is unsurpassed by that to be seen anywhere.

The big city of Chicago will open your eyes, And make you doubly glad that you won the prize. The World's Big Fair will make you hold your breath, And will not be forgotten till you're cold in death.

You can see many free attractions and thrills Without having to worry about any of the bills. You can eat at choice hotels three times per day, Without having to worry about how much to pay.

You can ride to the Fair ground time and again, By using the same ticket that you did on the train. You can take a big steamer and ride on the Lake— Something for which many lovers' hearts do ache.

Sailing o'er the placid water of the Lake by night, Will give you food for thought about which to write. If you want to be a poet like the noted Shakespeare, You can nowhere get a vision like you can get here.

If you would be a historian, don't miss this Big Fair, For it is history in the making that you'll find there. If you want to be a better teacher before your class, Get us $200 in subscriptions and win a free pass.

HOW BIG IS A MAN?

How big is a man? This interesting query has been answered by a clothing expert who resorted to the simple expedient of searching into records and discovering that various sizes of masculine wearing apparel which are sold in the greatest volume.

Charles F. Peters, style director for the Rogers Peet Company, took as a basis, fifteen years of clothing sales records to assemble a composite figure of the average American man. He found that such a person was 5 feet, 10 inches tall. That he wears a size 40 suit. This hypothetical man has a 35-inch waist, wears a 15 1-2 collar and has arms 19 inches long. His legs are 32 inches long and he wears a hat size 7 1-8. His socks are size 10 1-2 and his shoes are size 7 1-2.

Shortly after the World War, this American man's chest measure increased slightly, due to the influence of universal military training. At the same time, his girth diminished. Peters declares that general abstinence from beer was the cause and the prediction now is that the average American man will have a more genial girth within a few years.

BROTHER OF HUGH M. AUSTIN DIED TUESDAY

Smithfield, May 10.—Hugh M. Austin left Smithfield today to attend the funeral of his brother, Dr. H. E. Austin, who died suddenly Tuesday morning at the Veterans Hospital in Philadelphia.

Dr. Austin served as doctor in the medical corps during the World war and rose to the rank of major.

Since then he has been with the government service. About six years ago Dr. Austin's health began to fail and he was sent to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington. He was later transferred to the Veterans' hospital in Philadelphia, where he remained in the employ of the government as doctor until his death, which is said to have been caused by a bad heart.

Funeral services will be in Christ church at Alexander, Va., and burial will take place shortly afterward Thursday afternoon in Arlington Cemetery at Washington, which is only a few miles just across the river from Alexander.
