Asheville was unanimously chosen as the 1934 convention place after Charleston, S. C., withdrew its invitation in favor of the North Carolina city.

The Belmont, N. C. club won the meeting attendance prize and the Charleston, S. C. club won the convention attendance prize.

Resolutions deploring the reductions in appropriations for North Carolina schools were adopted after discussion of the subject by many of the delegates and a strong plea for the welfare of school children by Governor Montgomery.

James M. Lynch of Florence, international trustee, was endorsed for reelection.

Members of the Selma Kiwanis Club attending the convention were: Messrs. C. P. Harper, John Jeffries, L. T. Singleton, J. A. Ray, C. L. Richardson and C. W. Scales.

The Smithfield club brought back the attendance cup from Columbia, S. C., last year, and a goodly delegation attended the Elizabeth City meeting with hopes of bringing it home again. Twelve of the Smithfield Kiwanians were in attendance at Elizabeth City as follows: J. B. Slack, G. W. Grier, W. A. Finch, C. M. Johnson, E. F. Ward, Rev. B. T. Hurley, R. P. Holding, N. C. Shepard, Lawrence Stancil, Rev. H. N. Massey, A. J. Whitley, Jr., and Dr. J. W. Whitehead.

Yeggs Get $605 Cash From Safe in Benson

Indications Found That They Were Interrupted in Another Robbery.

Benson, Nov. 1.—Inhabitants of Benson awoke this morning to find that thieves some time during the night had looted the safe of James E. Wilson and Company, local dealers in farm supplies, of approximately $605.61 in cash and checks amounting to $477.27, and that a bold plot to rob the safe of Stephenson Motor Company, Chevrolet dealers, had been abandoned.

Gaining entrance into the James E. Wilson and Company store by breaking the lock on the front door, the yeggmens shattered the combination on the safe with heavy weapon, and by pushing back the lock spring, easily opened the repository. A number of valuable papers including a deed to property and an insurance policy, were taken.

The safe of the Stephenson Motor Company revealed that the edges of the door had been saturated with soap and nitroglycerine poured into a small hole which had been bored near the top. The thieves evidently fearing discovery abandoned the enterprise at this point.

Wakelon Highs Score 28-6 Win From Selma

Zebulon, Oct. 30.—Wakelon High defeated Selma High in football, 28-6. Sam Narron and Grip Daugherty were outstanding for the winners, the former scoring three touchdowns and Daugherty tallying the other on a 40-yard run. Narron also converted two extra point tries while Hottell made the other conversions.

Selma's lone touchdown came late in the second period when, after Coach Gerow had sent in his second team, the visitors launched a fine passing attack. A pass, Jones to Lane, produced the score.

The first Wakelon score came in the opening quarter when Narron, on two runs, moved the ball 60 yards to touchdown. Bill Lyles, Willard Morris, Harold Perebee and McClellan May were bet in the Wakelon line. It was the locals' fourth win of the season.

Action to Recover Wages Under NRA

High Point, Oct. 29.—Another action to recover wages said to be due as a result of a signed NRA agreement was started in Magistrate C. C. Muse's court Saturday by George Edwards against E. W. Garis, trading as the Sinclair Service station at the corner of English and Broad streets. The plaintiff is asking for $200, the difference between the $5 a week which he says he was paid and the amount of wages specified in the code. Hearing is set for Monday afternoon.

Musical Concert At the Selma Baptist Church

A large congregation enjoyed a most interesting sacred musical concert at the Selma Baptist Church last Sunday night presented by the singing class of Carter's Chapel Baptist church. The program was under the direction of Mr. J. E. Norkett, superintendent of the Lizzie Cotton Mill. There were around sixty mixed voices that composed this chorus choir. The program was made up entirely of sacred songs rendered by the choir and the Norkett Quartet. Among the selections rendered were, "Heaven Smile On Me," "The Old Country Church" and the new rendering of "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," all of which were presented very effectively. It is remarkable to note the marked progress made by this group in such a short period of only a few weeks study and practice.

Carter's Chapel is fortunate in having such a fine group of talented young people. Some expressed the opinion that such a program should be arranged for at least once a month. Doubtless this splendid choir will be invited back to Selma in the near future for another program of music. Mr. Norkett is to be commended for the fine service which he has rendered among the Carter's Chapel young people. We trust that the pastor of the Selma Baptist church will offer the community another such treat. Let the services of the church be made attractive with good music and the people will want to attend. Good music prepares the heart and soul for the Gospel message.

Goes Into Eternity With Whiskey Breath

Californian Goes To His Death On Gallows After Taking Small Drink And With Jazz Tune Playing.

With the smell of whiskey on his breath for a "bracer" and a jazz tune from a phonograph for his death march, Dallas Eagan, 40-year old white man walked calmly up the 13 steps to the gallows of the prison at San Quentin, Calif., Friday and was hanged for the hold-up and murder of W. J. Kirkpatrick, in Los Angeles, nearly a year ago.

Eagan died with apparent willingness, for he had spurned a change to ask Governor Holph for clemency, and thereby hangs the tale of whiskey.

In making a routine report to the Governor, Warden Stanley mentioned that the condemned man had declined to seek a reprieve and that his only concern seemed to be what kind of liquor he could have on that short march into eternity.

Rolph replied that Eagan should have any kind of whiskey he wanted, and "all he can stand up under" so that he could "go out happy."

Eagan received a Presbyterian minister and a Catholic priest but refused their services.

"I've been outside the church for 40 years and I prefer to go out alone," he told them. He proclaimed his willingness to die and referred to the scaffold as "the best way out."

Half an hour before the execution time he called for the whiskey and took one drink—not a very large one, officers said. He requested that his body be turned over to the medical school of the University of California with the remark that "perhaps it will help human misery."

The warden took out his watch. The death hour had arrived. Eagan did not have to be told.

"Just a second, please," he said, turning on the phonograph, a traditional privilege in the death cell. He put on a record, listened to a few bars of a once popular air and then turned and began the march. He stepped lightly and his lips moved as if following the fading strains from the phonograph.

McLamb Granted Stay To Nov. 17

Johnston County Slayer Is Spared For Further Investigation of Case

Governor Ehringhaus granted Luther McLamb a three-weeks extension of life Friday.

The Governor acted in the case of the Johnston County, white man upon the recommendation of Parole Commissioner Edwin Gill, who has spent considerable time upon the case but was not ready Friday to report definite findings. The reprieve is the second one granted in the case.

McLamb, father of eight children, slew George Hudson at a Johnston County "barn-raising." The fatal blow was delivered with an axe, sunk with mighty power into Hudson's skull.

The doomed man claims he was drunk, and not responsible for his action, and that it was not a premeditated murder. The parole office has received numerous statements in substantiation of the contention.

On the other hand, Dr. H. H. Utley, Benson physician who responded to the call for a doctor after the killing denies that McLamb was too drunk to know what he was doing.

The action of the Governor advanced the date of electrocution to Friday November 7, under the law fixing date of execution on the third Friday following final action in a capital case. Actually, the reprieve read for only one day.

Winston-Salem Has Heavy Registration

Winston-Salem, Oct. 30.—Registrations here Saturday for the repeal election exceeded 1,000, bringing the total registration to upward of 6,000.

The trap clanged at 10.01 a. m. and 12 minutes later he was pronounced dead.

Three witnesses had to be assisted out of the death chamber.

Stantonburg to Play Here

Selma All Stars to Play Conservation Corps of Stantonburg Here Armistice Day. Promises To Be One Of The Outstanding Events Of A Splendid Program.

The Conservation Corps of Stantonburg will meet the Selma All Stars here Armistice Day. These two teams from all indication will stack up about even. The Conservation Corps team is headed by Bob Hawkins 200 pound center. Hawkins was one time center and Captain at A. C. C. which at that time was one of the strongest in its class. Also with the Conservation squad is Jonathon Lane, fast and shifty half-back and one time star of Hugh Morson High and State College Frosh team. The squad is composed of others equally as good as the above mentioned. Some idea of their strength is shown by their recent game with Louisville College in which they held Coach Sutenfields proteges to a two touch down victory. The C. C. C. had just been organized at that time.

The locals as yet are untried but give promise of plenty action with following candidates: Headed probably by Henry Hood, former line star at Campbell and Wake Forest. Hood was prominently mentioned for All State Honors last year. Some others are Sherwood Shuler, former star end with the Campbell College Hornets, Tom Ray former local high and Carolina Frosh Star, Ray can boot the pig-kn with the best of them. Others who formerly starred at the local high and other schools and who will likely see action in the game are, Billy Blackman, Sam Hood, John McMillan, Odell Strickland, Clyde McMillan, Frank Hood, Herbert Ward, Gib Fields, S. R. Lee, Jesse Barden, Narvin Creech, Bob Straughn, M. Griswold and others who will probably be out later. The locals began an extensive practice session Monday and expect to be in top form by Armistice Day. All in all it seems that the prospects are fine for one swell game and plenty of action for visiting veterans and other visitors.

Two Teachers Killed In Crash

Miss Ora Jones and Miss Ethel Swanson Victims of Collision

Greensboro, Oct. 30.—Two MeLeansville school teachers Miss Ora Jones, 27, and Miss Ethel Swanson, 22, were fatally injured on State Highway No. 10 about eight miles east of here about 7 o'clock tonight when the small coupe in which they were riding was struck by a truck driven by P. L. Bobbitt, of Norlina, as the former machine was making a left turn from the highway.

Miss Swanson, whose home was at Lenoir, was reported instantly killed in the crash, while Miss Jones, whose home was at Ossipee, died while en route to a local hospital in an ambulance.

An investigation by county officers resulted in a manslaughter charge being preferred against Bobbitt, who told the officers that his machine crashed into the left rear of the coupe as it started to turn, making a left turn from the highway. Both machines were traveling east on the highway and Bobbitt said that the driver of the coupe failed to signal for the left turn as he started to pass on the highway.
