MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS ALL DAY

ARMISTICE DAY

TIME moves steadily onward. Hardly seems like 15 years since the greatest conflict of all history was brought to a victorious conclusion by the Allied Armies. Yes, and in those 15 years, many of us have had . . . and some still have . . . dark days when it seemed the battle of Life was turning against us. But - -

Our personal trials and tribulations are as nothing compared to sacrifices so valiantly made by the heroes of '17 and '18 in defense of the Peace and Security of the world. Many of those brave lads gave their lives. Many still patiently bear the wounds of war, both in our hospitals and in private life. For many of the latter, the war will never be over.

So to them . . . yes, to all veterans . . . and in memory of the honored dead, our salute. And a silent prayer of thanks as we FACE THE EAST at 11 a. m. ARMISTICE DAY!

Thirty-five Years

MR. R. J. SMITH

Our popular townsman, Mr. R. J. Smith, has just been awarded a beautiful gold medal for his thirty-five years' service with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. Smith first went to work for the S. B. T. & T. Company in Charlotte Nov. 21 1898, as ground man and worked in groups in the Carolinas until August 13, 1899, when he was transferred to Durham as plant foreman. From Durham he went to Raleigh, where he held the same position until July 15, 1905. While in the latter city he built the Selma Exchange in the spring of 1903. The central office in Selma was located in the rear of the bank, in the building now occupied by Millers Store. This was later moved to a building where Woodard's Drug store now stands. He was with A. T. T. Company a few years, then to Raleigh again and from there to Portsmouth, Va., as head line-man. He spent eight years in the Old Dominion, working most of the time as construction foreman. He assisted in building the lines to South Boston, Danville, Lynchburg and Roanoke, coming to Goldsboro in 1918. He has been in this district ever since. Mr. Smith has charge of the plant department of Selma, Wendell and Zebulon. He is 58 years of age and still active, having lost very little time on account of illness and none for the past 10 years. He has been twice married, has three living children and four dead by his first wife and two by his last wife. He is a member of the Junior Order, United American Mechanics and the Methodist church.

Extracts From Selma Paper Published 25 Years Ago

The following extracts are taken from a copy of The Selma News, dated Thursday, October 29, 1908, twenty-five years ago. This old paper was brought to our office by Mr. C. L. Richardson.

In this old paper appears a picture of the Selma Band. The only members of the band now living in Selma are Mr. R. E. Suber and Mrs. E. W. O'Neal. There is also a picture of the late C. W. Richardson, father of our townsman, Mr. C. L. Richardson, and Mrs. W. W. Hare. Mr. Richardson was chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee.

Sam Parker an Assyrian merchant, has opened a clothing store in the building recently vacated by W. E. Smith Co., next to the Richardson Drug Company.

"Peacetown" was presented in the opera house Tuesday night to a fair sized crowd by the J. Early Hughes Company. The play was interesting throughout and the crowd enjoyed it.

Rev. Geo. B. Starling, of Clayton, has been assisting the Rev. Mr. Puckett in a revival meeting in the Methodist church during the past week and preaching some interesting and wholesome sermons.

Hon. T. W. Bickett, candidate for attorney general of North Carolina, will speak at Rehoboth church grounds next Friday the 30th. There will be a big Democratic rally and other speakers will be present. Free barbecue dinner. Fine music by Selma band.

Mr. R. L. Ray spoke to a representative crowd of citizens at Sandy Hill school house Friday night on the issues of the campaign.

The Johnston Baptist Association will hold its fifth annual session in the new Baptist church here beginning Thursday, November 5th. At this meeting a memorial window in memory of the organization in Selma five years ago will be presented to the church by the Association.

In the Selma Methodist church last Thursday evening at sunset was solemnized the marriage of Miss Alice Enola Mitchener, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Mitchener, of Selma, and Mr. Earnest Deans, a popular and prominent young business man of Wilson.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens, ferns and potted plants and lighted with red and green candles.

The bride entered on the arm of her father at one door and the groom with his best man, Dr. Geo.

D. Vick, at the other, and to the strains of Lohengrins wedding march beautifully rendered by Mrs. W. H. Call, marched to the altar where the Rev. W. H. Puckett performed the ceremony making them one.

Before the bridal party entered Miss Maggie Whitley, one of Selma's charming daughters, sang a beautiful solo. The ushers were Messrs. Maurice Waddell, H. A. Pearce, E. W. Vick and J. A. Spiers. The flower girls were little Misses Mary Gurrant Mitchener and Neppie Jones. James Waddell Spiers was the ring bearer. Miss Blanche Mitchener, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The attendants were: Miss Mann with J. B. Waddell, Miss Adams with J. A. Mitchener, Jr., Miss Sackie Mitchener with A. W. Mitchener, Miss Mary Mitchener with J. S. Mitchener, Miss Rosalie Mitchener with Chas. Mitchener.

Mr. S. P. Wood spent a few days in Enfield last week with his parents.

Dr. Battle A. Hocutt, of Clayton, spent a day in Selma last week visiting friends.

William H. Taft spent Sunday in Washington.

President Roosevelt has signed a contract to become associate editor of the Outlook on his return from his African trip.

Orville Wright, the aeroplanist who narrowly escaped death in the accident to his aeroplane during a flight at Fort Myer, Va., five weeks ago, will soon be able to leave for his home at Dayton.

The New York World, a Bryan paper, gives Taft 205 votes sure and credits Bryan with 178.

WILL MAKE GOVERNMENT LOANS ON COTTON

Mr. R. C. Banks, representing Alex Sprunt & Son, is giving notice through an advertisement in this paper that he is in position to make government loans of 10c per pound on cotton.

Money advanced on all cotton received at shipping point. See his ad elsewhere in this issue. This plan gives the farmers of Selma territory the same advantage that any other town has where they have bonded warehouses, as all cotton delivered to them is bonded the same as that stored in warehouses.

Mr. Banks has office over A. V. Driver Store in Selma.

Mr. J. T. Wilkins made a business trip to Wilson Tuesday.

Stote Votes to Retain the 18th Amendment

Measure For Repeal Is Defeated by About 150,000 Majority—Drys Are Jubilant Over Great Victory—Result May Have Political Significance in Future Elections.

Raleigh, Nov. 8.—Jubilant over their smashing victory, North Carolina dries today moved to keep their organization intact and to carry on their prohibition fight which they hope ultimately will result in repeal of the state's 3.2 per cent beer and wine law.

Dr. W. L. Poteat, of Wake Forest president of the United Dry Force, said the organization expected "to secure the results of victory" and joined other prohibition leaders in a prediction that the next legislature which meets in 1935 will repeal the beer law enacted this year.

"North Carolina is dry and has been consistently dry," said Dr. Poteat. "We expect the 1935 legislature to be dry and to repeal the beer law which never should have been passed."

Meanwhile, the vote that recorded North Carolina as the first state against repeal of the 18th amendment was steadily mounting in favor of the dries who had a lead of approximately 150,000 with most of the state heard from.

With 1,448 of the state's 1,831 precincts reported, the vote was: For repeal, 109,668; against, 259,019.

The mounting majority brought little comment from repealists. Robert Lassiter, of Charlotte, president of the United Council for Repeal, announced the work of his organization came to an end with yesterday's vote.

"Our only purpose was to seek to have North Carolina line up with the states that have voted to amend the national prohibition act," he said.

Although Cale K. Burgess, campaign manager for the United Dry Forces, declared that organization as a group would not sponsor any man for political office, there was speculation here as to the political significance of the dry landslide.

It was the consensus that the stars of Cameron Morrison, former senator and former governor, and of Clyde R. Hoey, former representative and prospective gubernatorial candidate in 1936, had risen considerably.

There was speculation as to the effect the dry victory would have on the future political careers of the state's two United States senators, Josiah W. Bailey and Robert R. Reynolds, both of whom advocated repeal.

Reynolds, who made a 57-county tour of the state, defeated Morrison in 1932.

Kiwanis Hosts To Wives and Teachers

The Selma Kiwanis Club was host to the wives of the members and the faculty of the Selma schools at a banquet held Friday night. Kiwanian C. P. Harper gave the welcome address which was responded to by Miss Hash, member of the school faculty. The toastmaster, Charles Jacobs, then called on Kiwanian George F. Brietz for a talk. This was followed by vocal music by Mrs. M. R. Wall and Jimmie Woodard, accompanied by Miss Ellen Singleton. Rev. L. T. Singleton and A. K. Eason delighted those present with their wit and humor. Mrs. D. F. Waddell presented paper and pencils and asked all present to draw likenesses of the teachers and Kiwanians, whose names appeared on their papers. The judges, Mrs. C. E. Kornegay, Miss Mildred Perkins and H. H. Lowry, awarded the prize to Miss Della Stroupe, of Cherryville.

Lieutenant Governor Charles Scales was introduced by the toastmaster. Mr. Scales made a brief but very interesting talk. He is president-elect of the Selma club.

minister and prohibition leader, issued a statement saying Bailey and Reynolds "should resign and let the state have fair and proper representation in the senate."

Dry leaders credited their victory to "moral forces" rather than to any political factor, Burgess explaining the United Dry Forces were a non-partisan and inter-denomination agencies.

Challenging the statement of Jake Newell, Charlotte attorney and Republican senatorial candidate last year, that the vote was Republican victory, John D. Langston, of Goldsboro, a Democratic leader who worked against repeal, said:

"It was not a Democratic victory, it was not a Republican victory nor was it the victory of any other party. * * * I would say that it was a victory of the stalwart womanhood and motherhood of the state."

Although they consider their victory a mandate for repeal of the beer law, Dr. Poteat and Burgess said no effort would be made for a special session of the legislature to repeal that statute.

"We expect the 1935 legislature to follow the mandate of the people and repeal the law," Dr. Poteat said. "It should never have been enacted."

"North Carolina has been consistently dry since 1908 when prohibition was voted by 44,000 majority. In 1928 we demonstrated this state's attitude by defeating Al Smith in what was a referendum on prohibition."

"We now have a 150,000 majority."

Johnston Man Hit By Brick And Killed

Misunderstanding Between Two Men Results in Quarrel and Homicide.

Smithfield, Nov. 6.—Henry Hall, a white man, is in jail here and Junius McLamb is dead, as the result of a misunderstanding alleged to have grown out of the affirming arrangements between the two men this year.

Junius McLamb, aged 44 years, died Sunday morning as the result of injuries received by being struck by Hall, and was buried in the family burial ground, near his home, in Meadow township, Sunday evening. The deceased was a very respectable citizen of his community and leaves a widow and several children.

Hall had been living with McLamb this year but moved away and came back Sunday night a week ago and called McLamb out of his house, and an argument ensued, which resulted in Hall throwing a brick and striking McLamb on the head.

The assailant is in jail, without privilege of bail, awaiting action of the coroner's jury, which will hear the matter Wednesday afternoon.

Sues For $50,000 In Highway Fatality

Goldsboro, Nov. 6.—Suit for $50,000 against Z. T. Brown has been filed in Wayne Superior Court by Mrs. Alice K. Hatch in connection with the death of her husband, Attorney J. J. Hatch, in an automobile accident last January. The plaintiff alleges that he came to his death as the result of an automobile accident by the defendant through his son, William Brown, in a "careless, negligent, unlawful, wilful and wanton manner."

Mr. Hatch died in a hospital in Richmond three days after the accident, which occurred near Richmond. In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Brown their son, and Mr. Hatch, who were on their way to enter William in the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The complaint says that Mr. Hatch had been instrumental in getting William into the Academy.

GINNERS REPORT

That there were 31,256 bales of cotton ginned in Johnston County from the crop of 1933 prior to Oct. 18, 1933, as compared with 25,956 bales ginned to October 18, 1932.

E. G. HOLLAND, Agt.

Mrs. W. A. Nordan, Jr., of Huston, Texas, is visiting in Selma at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. H. Stallings and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nordan, Sr. She will spend several weeks here before returning to her home in Texas.
