

New AAA Farm Program Follows the Defense Idea

With national defense the paramount issue in the country today, the 1941 AAA farm program has been designed to tie in closely with defense aims, says E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of State College.

The new program, which has just been announced, will emphasize conservation of the soil and the maintenance of abundant supplies through an ever-normal granary plan.

Based on recommendations of farmer-committeemen who met in Washington earlier in the summer, the 1941 program will follow the same general lines of* the 1939 and 1940 programs.

Small farmers' needs have been given further consideration in the new program, Floyd said. For instance, the provision under which at least $20 may be earned on any farm through conservation measures will be continued in 1941. If as much as $15 is earned by planting forest trees, any farm may receive as much as $35 under the program.

The program also provides that on small farms where the maximum payment is not more than $20, any part of the soil-building allowance may be earned by carrying out locally adapted conservation practices not included in the National program.

This provision will be applicable in designated areas where needed, and the practices for which payment will be made in this special group will be recommended by local committeemen.

Likewise, Floyd said, in areas where feed crops are not generally produced for market, any farmer may grow as much as 30 acres of soil-depleting crops without incurring a deduction for exceeding the total soil-depleting acreage allotment.

Judge Orders Boys To Attend Sunday School

Judge John J. Burney of Wilmington, in Wilson Superior court recently, sentenced eight Wilson county boys ranging in age from 16 to 19 to attend Sunday school every Sunday for the next five years. He suspended prison sentences on the eight and directed Probation Officer E. R. Kenny, of Tarboro, to see to it that "these boys go to Sunday school every Sunday or see me and I'll send them to prison if they don't."

The eight boys were all placed on probation for five years also.

Another youth, Percy Burres, 18, of Saratoga, was given a straight 12 months on the roads in one of the theft cases.
