SELMA MILL VILLAGE HAPPENINGS

(By H. H. L.)

Otis Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Saunders, who was seriously injured in an automobile wreck last November, is still confined to his home. Otis suffered a broken leg and other injuries. He hasn't been able to discard his crutches. A few days ago he sent to this office a large shoe box full of tinfoil he had collected since he has been unable to get around, with instructions to turn it over to the war salvage committee.

This writer was invited to partake of a bountiful dinner at the home of this young man on last Saturday and we thoroughly enjoyed it. Mrs. Saunders is a splendid cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill and daughter, of Durham, spent the week end with Mrs. C. O. Morris, and other relatives in the Mill Village. Harry was for a number of years a member of the Cards Ball Club. Since going to Durham he has been playing with one of the leagues in that city.

The many friends of Mrs. James Kemp, who has been on the sick list for some time, will be glad to learn that she is much improved. Mrs. Kemp is one of the Village's most beloved citizens and her host of friends trust she will soon be well again.

Mr. Harold Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, who has been employed by the Selma Cotton Mills for the past two years as book-keeper, was among the contingent leaving for Fort Bragg on last Saturday for induction in Uncle Sam's army. Harold has many friends here who regret to see him leave.

Superintendent Stanley Armitage, of the Selma Cotton Mills, and family are vacationing in his old home state of Massachusetts this week.
