

FROM FRAT AND BASE BALL GALLERIES

From left to right: Wiley "Lou" Williams, 1st baseman supreme; J. H. "Smooth" Tucker, slugger a la Ruth, unable to play because of a spiked hand; Edward "Cutie" McDowell, misses nothing, balls or men; J. R. Pitchford, a tosser who delivers the goods; J. O. "Pomp" Horne, outfielder and utility.

MUSIC AND ART

Henri Louis Marshall, '29

Since we are living in an age of pure materialism, and the craving of men's minds for the possession of this world's goods is so great, we are apt to think that this age is the most marvelous in the history of man. In Shakespeare's England, beginning there, travel was dangerous and slow; epidemics devastated whole provinces; houses were cold, badly lighted, inconvenient. In spite of this great men lived and did great things.

If we are not careful we shall be inclined to believe that, in this twentieth century, the greatness of man consists in material comforts and enterprises.

An office boy can use a telephone, ride a street car, operate a radio, and hear the sound of a vitaphone. Shakespeare knew not of these things. Is the office boy greater than Shakespeare because of these things?

Man finds enjoyment not only in his immediate surroundings but in a world of phantasy and antiquity. He surrenders himself to the contributions of his elders. Those contributions are traced back to the legend, ritual, myth, dogma, institutions, mores, folk songs and ballads.

A year ago, a recital of Japanese folklore, song and dance, was presented in the University Auditorium. A similar presentation of Russian folksong and Gypsy ballads, by Mr. Saveli Walevitch, was rendered on Tuesday evening, March 19. Among the most enjoyable numbers were: "Eh! Ouchnem!"—The Volga Boatman; "Zorinka"—The Bandit, and "Bayoushky Bayou"—Cossack Lullaby.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI

(Continued from page 3)

Bro. Dempse Petteway is naturally disposed to be pious, studious, and is one of the most likable members of the Junior class and the Fraternity. He is very fond of "beans" and "math."

Bro. E. M. Pressly, commonly called "Beetle," is a good student, with some ability as an athlete and writer. He is of the Junior class and Keeper of Records for the Chapter.

Bro. A. S. Powe, ("Hop-lite"), graduates from College in June. He is a member of the Philosophy Club and Board of Directors. He possesses much oratorical ability and holds a medal for superiority in the Junior College Oratorical Contest.

Bro. A. M. Rollins, a graduate of 1928, resides in the city. He is principal of the High School at Mt. Holly, N. C.; an earnest worker and is acting Alumni Secretary of the Chapter.

Bro. J. D. Taylor, of the Junior class, is a tease prodigy, listing principally to mathematics. He is Keeper of the Exchequer to the Fraternity.

Bro. H. T. Thompson is of Sophomore extraction, energetic and studious. He is class reporter, and an ardent worker in the Fraternity. He is Asst. Secretary in the office of the Dean.

Bro. O. L. Wilson is a sort of versatile chap and is Vice-Polemarch of the Chapter; a member of the Inter-Fraternal Council and Junior class. He is Acting Secretary in the office of the Dean; Dictator in the Kappa Kastle, and ranks par-excellent in scholarship.

SUPPORT THE 1929 ANNUAL.

HOME-COMING GAME, NOV. 23--SMITH vs. MOREHOUSE

The University Student

Vol. 1 No. 1 JOHN H. C. SMITH OCTOBER, 1928 Price 10 Cents

SMITH UNIVERSITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO BENEFAC- TRESS MRS. JOHNSON BANQUETS MEN AND STUDENTS Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINS NEW STUDENTS AT RECEPTION

A.E. Manley
EDITOR

T.A. LaSainé
ASSISTANT EDITOR

E.W. Jones
BUSINESS MANAGER

R.E. Jones
SECRETARY

C.C. Devone
CIRCULATION MANAGER

T. Jeffers
ASSOCIATE

ALPHA EPSILON CHAPTER—KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY

J. Henry Alston, Polemarch; O. L. Wilson, Vice-Polemarch; E. M. Pressley, Jr., Keeper of Records; J. D. Taylor, Keeper of Exchequer; C. C. De Vane, Editor; T. A. La Saine, Historian; Blunt, J. A.; Blakeney, L. L.; Brewer, A. S.; Brown, J. W.; Justice, J. H.; Jones, J. A.; Harrington, A. T.; Rollins, A. M.; Powe, A. S.; James, A. T.; Jones, R. E.; Jenkins, E. H.; Jackson, Prof. T. S.; Thompsno, H. Taft; Petteway, D.