IN NEW BERN TODAY

Nine of the Seniors who graduated last week from New Bern High will be included in the verdant crop of Frosh at the Womans College of the University of North Carolina in Greensboro next September.

Familiar faces dotting the campus are going to be those of Gladys Blanford, Olivia Burnham, Anne Cagaris, Rosa Chance, Martha Gillikin, Molly McCotter, Jo Carole McDaniel, Anita Slater and Sarah Taylor.

Marshal Braddy is headed for East Carolina College in Greenville, along with Terry Bennett, Carl Dixon, Glenda Games, Michael Miller, Georgia Parrott, Carolyn Pate, Marcelle Vogel, Becky Wayne, and Sheila White.

Hazel and Betsy Belangia selected Louisburg for their college career, as did Billy Biddle, John Tucker Jones, Dickie Quick, Aubrey Smith, and Dukie Watson.

Bound for Chapel Hill and the University of North Carolina are John Baxter, Charlie Davis, Robert Gillikin, Jimmie Hicks, Jean Fulcher, Linda Morton and John Wayne Partin, while Jay Allen will be at Vanderbilt University and Mary Frances Ramsey at Columbia.

Janice Messer's studying will be done at King College, Bobby Mohn's at Wingate, Suzi Ricks at St. Mary's and Annette Smith's at Agnes Scott. Mary Ann Barger is going to be at Lenoir-Rhyne, while John Burwell, Jack Lewis, Archie Revels, Betty Jean Pake and Larry Roberson have their eyes on Guilford.

State College is the choice of Charles Carraway, and the same goes for David Flowers, Phil Nelson and Mike Warner. Jean Earl Worthington will be continuing his sports stardom down at Citadel, and Billy Ernul is going to be at Sullivan Prep in Washington, D. C.

Anna Cartner will be at Meredith, Robbie Daniels at Elon, and up at Duke the freshman class is going to include Walter Dixon and Jimmy McKinnin, and Roger Toler.

Mike Long is all set for Western Carolina, and Atlantic Christian College will be aware of the presence of David Montague and Billy Willis. Sandra Wade is going to add her charm to Greensboro College, and Pat Turner will do likewise at Lynchburg. Alice Johnson is going to be at Peace.

Nursing, a truly noble profession, is landing some excellent graduates. Ane Armstrong will tackle it at Mercy Hospital in Charlotte, while Dianne Berry is going to be at Watts in Durham, and Virginia Barfield at James Walker Memorial in Wilmington. Charlotte Kennel and Nancy O'Neal are going to be at Watts in Durham too. Edith Moore will be at Walker Memorial. Tommy Hughes chose the Free Will Baptist College for his studies, and Alice Dunn the Boston Business School way up in Massachusetts. Sarah Hansen will be at Montreat, Craig White at Salem, and Charles Hargett at the Coast Guard Academy.

Others too are making plans to further their learning at this or that college. We wish all of the Seniors luck, at home or at school. Things are going to be mighty lonesome around New Bern High, with so many fine students no longer on the scene to share our joys and woes.

The Looking Glasscerned about tomorrow's frost as a playful grasshopper, simply lived it up, to the hilt.

Anyhow, it's nice to see him still young and spry, and successful once more. Old timers don't get the chance to wax sentimental about the heart songs they swooned to, at least not much. But when they do, above the din of Rock and Roll, it's Gene Austin they remember, and the sweet tunefulness of "Melancholy Baby."
