IN NEW BERN TODAY

Everyone at New Bern High is tremendously excited about our new drill team. Coach McGee's wife (Beverly) is a wonderful instructor, and we intend to be ready for our first drill at the New Bern-Elizabeth City game here on February 20.

We are preparing a military drill and a baton routine. Other drills will be added later, after our initial appearance. We have been practicing from 3:30 to 5:00 on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, and we also practiced during the Christmas holidays.

Included among the girls who are busy at the routines are Margaret Allen, Diane Bray, Linda Chance, Joyce Clark, Carolyn Dixon, Jessie Hall, Patty Haner, Louise Kent, Cheryl Kwasnick, Eleanor Nelson, Emma Padgett, Patty Piland,

Patsy Joseph, Judy Maultsby, Marcia Paul, Sandra Ridoutt, Shirley Rodgers, Priscilla Ross, Brenda Smith, Nell Smith, Evan Rowe, Emma Turnage, Martha Benfield, Diane Laughinghouse, Patricia Kilpatrick, Juddie Messer, Berly Perry, Patsy Wilson and Donna Cohn.

Mrs. McGee impressed upon those of us who are on the drill team the importance of getting into good physical condition. Just like an athlete or a ballet dancer, we can't do our best otherwise.

We certainly want to be at our best for our first appearance. Fans have shown a great interest in what we are trying to accomplish, and we don't want to disappoint them.

As for our fellow students, we know they will be with us all the way.

It sometimes happens that the man with the most magnetism is the one who gets things coming his way.

DELIGHTFULLY DIFFERENT—Much of Georgia Parrott's charm lies in the unique qualities that are to be found in her facial expressiveness. Even if you didn't know by her attire that she has her heart wrapped up in ballet, you would sense her artistic nature. Add one more lovely New Bern girl to our array of Mirror Maids.—Photo by Billy Benners.

the sensational Havelock scalding case in which a marine sergeant's wife inflicted fatal injuries on her young foster son.

There have been other occasions too when Rouse gave evidence of being a capable prosecutor. He loses cases, like every other solicitor in court history, but seldom does he come out second best if the evidence is strong. Yet, never again, perhaps, will he be as famous as he was in 1945.
