IN NEW BERN TODAY

New Bern High school students were quite pleased with the October issue of The Bear Cub. We feel sure that the remaining six issues will be just as entertaining.

Some readers of this column in The Mirror don't have anyone in their family attending New Bern High. We would like for them to know who is on the staff of The Bear Cub, so that they can extend their congratulations along with ours.

Rose Humphrey is editor-in-chief, Annette Lancaster is associate editor, and Eloise Reel the business manager. Feature editors are Pattie Bryan, Lottie Strickland and Bette Jean Tripp.

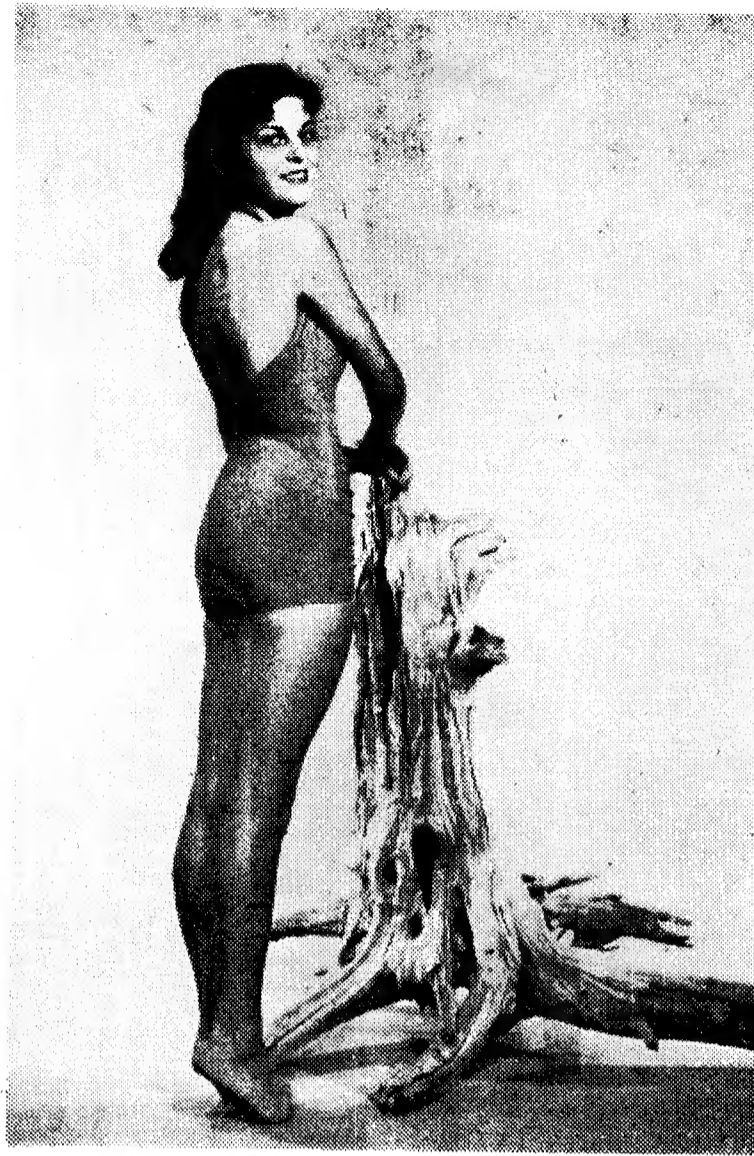

Social editors are Lillian Johnson and Libby Hodges, while Bill Pendleton is sports editor. There are three art editors—George Blow, Leon Toler and Doug Young. The club news editor is Jackie Thomas, and the exchange editor is Lillian Johnson.

Margaret Rhodes and Joy Rice are the music editors, while the class news editors are Ronnie Clark, Jane Osgood and Danny Kellum. Reporters at large are Marshall Ball, Sue Daniels, Marie Swindell and Emmitt Brinson.

We certainly don't want to leave out our Bear Cub typists, Harry Ritter and Lottie Strickland, nor Robert Johnson, who is the alumni reported, and Miss Lucie Hodges, the faculty advisor.

White we're in a congratulatory mood, our very best to the seven New Bern High school students who have been honored by the Tryon Palace Commission for their fine work as hostesses at the Palace.

Joyce Ellen Stainback, Pat Humphrey, Rose Humphrey, Jo Ellen Jennette, Olivia Hammond, Barbara Radford and Annette Lancaster were among the special guests when the commission held its beautiful banquet at the Hotel Governor Tryon. Joyce made a very good speech about what being a hostess has meant to her.

A BIT OF OLD ERIN—Patti Haner, a sophomore at New Bern High, is as genuinely Irish as Mrs. Murphy's chowder. Her eyes are as bright as the dew of Kilarney, and her smile puts one in mind of the rose of Kildaire. She has plenty of blarney too, and the sum total makes her a spritely addition to our Mirror Maids.—Photo by Billy Benners.

NEA Convention

at the Trent Park school cafeteria, while college officials will have their meal at the Hotel

Teachers in the industrial arts division are motoring to Cherry Point and will tour the apprentice school and shops after luncheon at the Base cafeteria. Science teachers are looking forward to their afternoon tour of the Duke University Marine Laboratory at Beaufort.

Among the New Bernians who will appear in various capacities on the convention's agenda in addition to those already named are City Superintendent H. J. MacDonal, County Superintendent Robert L. Pugh, Laura Rhodes, Barbara Brock, Marguerite G. Johnson, Billie Bolinger, Helen Smith, Will Pittman, Jean Miller, Mary Walker and Selma Pritchard.

Just a few of the dignitaries in attendance will be Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. L. S. Weaver, who is State NEA president of Methodist college at Fayetteville and W. Burkette Raper, president of Mount Olive Junior college.

It's going to be quite a convention, even for a town that has grown accustomed to such things.

MIRROR MEDITATION

Knowledge forms islands. For some reason, when a person acquires the ultimate in knowledge of a profession, he finds himself among people of his kind.

Birds of a feather, their thinking, habits, characteristics and work are mostly the same. They become isolated. Usually there are organizations to which their profession belongs, a Social Island in which they become aloof.

All this is good, but danger arises when any man regardless of his professional level or wealth loses the common touch. Many times he is destroyed by his own personal ego—a trap for fools.
