

College — Chatter

Michael Miller's part-time work as a florist while attending New Bern High is paying dividends as he furthers his education at East Carolina. Thanks to his experience, he had no trouble landing a job at a Greenville floral shop. More power to him in earning while learning.

Ann Chagaris has the distinction of being assistant house president for Ragsdale dormitory at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. Considering the fact that there are 160 students housed there, it's quite an honor to hold that office.

Asked what she misses most back home, Ann didn't have to think twice. "Rest," she told us. All of the boys and girls attending college from New Bern say the same thing.

As a member of the Duke University band, Walter Dixon has had some interesting and exciting moments this year. One of the highlights came when the band went to Pittsburgh for the Duke-Pitt football game. "We were taken on a tour of 'the city,'" he says, "and a big reception was held for us."

Recently, too, Walter was flown with 19 other members of Duke's Navy ROTC to Pensacola for an inspection of that great base. While there he met Miss Baker, the famous space monkey, and was quite impressed. She resides in royal fashion in "Baker Bungalow" where her flight suit is on display.

FAST WORK!

Dracut, Mass. — State police solved a crime before the victims knew they had been robbed. Troopers found two men asleep in a parked car and questioned them. They admitted stealing a safe containing $100 from a school in the town of Dracut.

The empty safe was found in a cemetery, but not until the police informed the school authorities did they know the safe was missing.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

SEASONED BUTTERS—Way to use them:

Parsley Butter—Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) melter butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/4 to 1/2 cup finely minced parsley. How to use it: for seasoning potatoes, noodles, shellfish, and fish.

Mustard Butter—Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) softened butter, 1/4 cup prepared mustard. How to use it: as a spread for sandwiches and seasoning for fish, ham and eggs.

Lemon Butter—Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) melted butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. How to use it: for seasoning fish, shellfish, chicken, veal and vegetables.

Garlic Butter—Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) softened butter, 1 small clove garlic, thoroughly mashed. How to use it: for seasoning French or other crisp-crustured breads, some meats, fish and shellfish.

Herb Butter — Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) softened butter, 1 teaspoon mixed salad herbs. How to use it: for seasoning French or other crisp-crustured breads, poultry, veal and vegetables; ideal seasoning for stuffing meat, poultry and fish.

Cheese Butter — Combine 1/4 pound (1 stick) softened butter and desired amount of grated cheese, such as Parmesan or Romano. How to use it: for seasoning French or other crisp-crustured breads, as spread for canapes, as seasoning for vegetables.

A wide variety of herbs are at your grocery store—or perhaps you grow them.

Fall Better Than Winter For Calving

It's more profitable for a dairyman to have cows freshened in the fall instead of in spring and winter.

Records show that for cows freshened during September, October and November, the returns over feed cost is much higher than those freshened in the spring and early summer, says R. L. Wynn, dairy extension specialist, A&T college.

Another factor in favor of the dairyman who has cows freshened in the fall is the surplus labor supply in winter. This contributes to better care and management of the milking herd, and the heavy fall calf crop usually makes better growth. This is possible because the calves are kept in the barn and there is more labor available to give them a good start in life.

Veterans Urged to Make Sure Of Beneficiary to Policy

G. I. insurance policyholders, some six million strong, are urged by the Veterans Administration to check their records to be sure that their designated beneficiaries are up to date.

The law gives GI policyholders the right to change their beneficiaries at any time without the consent of the prior beneficiaries. But unless the change is officially made, no choice is given to the VA but to pay the claim to the beneficiary of record.

Carelessness in designating beneficiaries may result in undesired consequences, the VA pointed out. An example is the veteran who designated his wife as beneficiary. She divorced him, and he subsequently married again and raised a family. Should he neglect to change his designated beneficiary before he dies, his insurance may be paid to his former wife, and his widow and children will receive nothing.

Policyholders also have several different options as to how the insurance shall be paid. Explanation of these options can be obtained by contacting any VA office.

Congress has liberalized the definition of an "adopted child" of a veteran eligible to receive benefits administered by the Veterans Administration.

If at the time of the veteran's death, the child was living in the veteran's household, and if the child is legally adopted by the veteran's surviving spouse within two years after the veteran's death, he or she is considered to be the veteran's adopted child, the VA ex-
