

Buds AND Blossoms

By
MAMIE MILLER

"Thou shalt lay up gold as dust, and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brooks. And thou shalt have plenty of silver." — Job 22:24,25.

The Passion Flower is not only filled with exotic beauty but legends of the early Spanish settlers. They claimed it represented the Crucifixion. The 10 petals represent the 10 apostles present at the Crucifixion. The filament represents the crown of thorns, and the stamens the wounds.

This plant grows abundantly around here in sandy soil, on ditch banks and fence jams. It is commonly known as the May pop. Children enjoy making make-believe animals from the fruit.

Many people are fascinated with the Venus Fly Trap. It is a flesh eating, carnivorous plant. It devours many insects, such as flies and mosquitoes. High humidity is essential to grow the Fly Trap. They grow wild and should be well protected to save for future generations.

When dogs insist on preying on your premises, use Ridz outdoor dog repellent. Spray on trees, shrubs, fences and sides of the house. It does not cause the paint to blister nor burn plants.

Grow more green foliage in your garden for cool summer arrangements.

The Wanderer

Upon a mountain height, far from the sea,
I found a shell,
And to my listening ear the lonely thing
ever a song of ocean seemed to sing,
Ever a tale of ocean seemed to tell.

How came the shell upon the mountain height?
Ah, who can say
Whether 'there dropped by some too careless hand,
Or whether there cast when ocean swept the land,
Ere the Eternal ordained the Day?

Strange, was it not? Far from its native deep,
One song it sang,
Song of the awful mysteries of the tide,
Song of the misty sea, profound and wide,
Ever with echoes of the ocean rang.

And as the shell upon the mountain height
Sings of the sea,
So do I ever, leagues and leagues

away,
So do I ever, wandering where I may,
Sing O my home! Sing O my home! Of thee.

HINTS TO HOMEMAKERS

ADD A GARNISH—A few seconds spent in adding that extra bit of garnish makes any meal more appetizing and perks up the interest of family or guests.

Sieve or rice the yolk of hard-cooked eggs and spring on salads, on cooked greens, or on asparagus spears just before serving.

Remove crust and cut slice of bread into small cubes. Toast cubes of bread in broiler, shaking two or three times to toast evenly. Serve these croutons with soups.

When serving tomato soup, add a teaspoon of whipped cream topped with a dash of paprika or finely chopped parsley.

A dash of paprika adds contrast to cold potato salad, potato salad, or deviled eggs.

Top a chicken or seafood salad with a pickle flower and top a fruit salad with a cherry flower. To do this, slice very tiny sweet pickles lengthwise into six sections, leaving one end of pickle intact.

Cindy, aged seven, has her own ideas about the problem of discipline. Not too long ago she came home from school very unhappy because a small boy in her room had been spanked.

After telling her mother about the incident, she said very seriously, "Mother, I really think it would have been better to have had a good sound discussion of talk!"

Kids, bless 'em, seldom let anyone "faze" them when it comes to answering questions about one of their pets. A very snobbish woman asked young Tommy in a very superior way if his dog had a pedigree. "In other words, do you have any papers for him?"

"Oh yes Mam," Tommy assured her, "He's got papers all over the floor!"

Sometimes our kids can be outspoken for our own peace of mind. Take the time, for instance, when little Dottie after watching Mom put cold cream on her face asked, "What's that for, Mommy?"

"It's face cream, honey," the mother replied, "to make me look beautiful." A little while later, after the cold cream had been wiped off, Dottie looked at her mother for a minute. Then she shook her head and remarked sadly, "Didn't work, did it Mommy?"
