New Bern's Donald Davis experienced his first real college thrill last Friday at Winston-Salem. Although the Baby Deacons of Wake Forest lost 34-7 to the South Carolina Frosh, Donald raced 26 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown. Just as he did at New Bern High, the youngster made good use of his interference.

All things considered, the charges of Coach Bill Klutz came up with a creditable game at Elizabeth City last Friday night. The Bruins made a fight of it after yielding a pair of early touchdowns to the Yellow Jackets, managed to tally themselves and ended up on the short end of a respectable 13-7 score.

Tonight the Bears are taking another long trip for a North-eastern Conference clash with a Tarboro eleven that has been decidedly unimpressive this season. New Bern, it would appear, stands an excellent chance to emerge victorious, despite the fact that the Tars are primed for this one.

Speaking of Tarboro, we recently had the pleasure of chatting about High school football of the Thirties with Ducky Lewis who is now executive secretary of the North Carolina Motel Association. Lewis in his day was a brilliant ball carrier for the Tarboro team, and made things miserable for a fine New Bern team whenever the two clubs met.

"I always hated to play against New Bern," Ducky admitted the other night. "That big tackle you had-Clifton Daugherty-kept busting through the line. When he tackled me, he would pick me up and throw me down like a little girl who gets mad with her doll."

Daugherty was 190 pounds of muscle, and later starred for the State College Wolfpack. As a matter of fact, he made first string tackle on the varsity in his sophomore year. He wasn't intentionally rough, but in an exciting game he sort of got carried away in his exuberance.

FREE EGGS FOR PEOPLE ON THE GO is the cheer given by Patricia Quillen, 19-year-old Miss Eggtober 1962. This slim, vivacious coed and photographer's model knows eggs are packed with energy and makes them a key part of her diet. Here she helps announce the give-away of a year's supply of fresh North Carolina eggs each day at the N. C. State Fair. Patricia plans to become a teacher. She is a student at Wisconsin State Teachers college.

"I asked my coach what I could do," said Lewis, "after being bounced off the ground repeatedly. The coach wasn't much help. He told me to just stay out of Daugherty's way, but I didn't have much success.
